Storm Sewer Study Okayed

A recommendation by the Citizens Sewer Bond Committee calling for an updating of the Burns & McDonnell engineering company's 1956 storm sewer report and an application for financing to the Housing and Home Finance Agency was approved Tuesday night by City Council.

The citizens committee had passed its recommendation on Nov. 4 urging the sewer system report be updated to include areas beyond the city limits which might be involved in future annexation in line with the current Hare & Hare municipal plan. Incorporated in the survey would be aerial photography of the area and complete topographic maps.

Commenting on the committee's recommendation, City Engineer R. W. Cunningham said it was proposed for the council to take action now in order that aerial photography required might be done this winter when foliage was at a minimum.

Members of the citizens committee also recommended to council that Burns & McDonnell be authorized to make a study of the southwest area of the city, south of 28th Street and east of Highway 65 to consider possibility of construction of a temporary sewage lagoon. The lagoon would be in lieu of a proposed 28th Street sewer which could serve only a limited area and necessitate a deep and expensive construction, the committee told the council.

This recommendation was also endorsed by the council members.

City Clerk Ralph Dedrick read the council a letter received by the mayor from Leland D. Fletcher, district Highway Department engineer, regarding ponding of water at the intersection of Broadway and Emmet where Urban Plan highway work was completed several months ago. Fletcher reported the ponding of water on the northeast corner of the intersection was probably caused by sodding of the parkway by the adjacent property owner, but he added it was the department's belief that the ponding has been eliminated by an asphalt overlay of the sidewalk by the property owner.

Fletcher added that the side-

Memory Lost 39 Years Ago Returns to Deep-Sea Diver

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A 39-year-old deep-sea diver who says he lost his memory when he was beaten senseless at the end of World War II has found his family and his past after a search of two decades.

"It's just like being born again," said Robert Sheridan, who was 19 and heading for San Francisco to be discharged from the Navy when the amnesia began. "You have something of your own again."

Although investigations by the Navy, the FBI, the Red Cross, state troopers, state senators and insurance companies failed to turn up a trace of Sheridan, his mother never gave up hope.

His father, John J. Sheridan, a retired post office worker from Albany, N.Y., had searched, but less aggressively. "I was a little afraid of what I might find," he said.

Sheridan gave this account:

It was 20 years ago when he was found severely beaten along a road outside Craig, Colo. His wallet was gone. His silver identification bracelet read: "Robert Sher..." The remainder was illegible.

A few feet from him lay a pistol.

Then he began his years of wandering.

"I bummed around all over. The casinos in Reno, the police department in Reno, all over."

Several times he met girls he wanted to marry, but he never did.

"I didn't know whether I had a wife or children. And then there was that gun. I didn't know what kind of person I might have been."

"You are afraid to tie yourself to anyone when you don't have a past."

Finally, about a year ago, while working as a diver in Los Angeles, he decided to go to a psychoanalyst.

Red Entrenchments Targets of B-52s At Ia Drang Valley

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — North Vietnamese regulars pressed attacks on regrouped U. S. cavalrymen in the Ia Drang River Valley today while B52 jet bombers ripped at Communist entrenchments in nearby hills.

Near the coast, a Viet Cong battalion overran a government district headquarters and its 150-man garrison at Hiep Duc, 28 miles south of Da Nang. U.S. military sources said every building there was reported destroyed. An aerial survey showed no signs of life. The Viet Cong were reported to have left several of their victims impaled on stakes.

Four U.S. planes — three Marine and one Navy — were lost on a bombing strike against a bridge on the railway line linking Hanoi, North Viet Nam's capital, with its port of Haiphong.

Of the four pilots, a spokesman said two were rescued, one was killed and another is missing.

The battle of the Ia Drang Valley, which newsmen were told already had cost the Communists 890 dead and the greatest American losses in any single engagement of the war, shifted to a new field north of the river.

It was three miles from the helicopter landings site in a jungle clearing 220 miles north-east of Saigon that two battalions of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division had defended for three days against re-

A U.S. spokesman in Saigon said the cavalrymen had "adjusted their positions" to avoid being hit by the tons of bombs dropped by the B52s.

Council Passes Ordinance To Give Approval To Hall

By Larry Embry
City Council, meeting in a recessed session Tuesday night, adopted an ordinance formally approving William H. Hall, present assistant industrial director for the Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development, as executive director of Sedalia's newly created Industrial Development Department.

Hall sat in on the council meeting and was introduced to council members and the audience. He begins his duties here Dec. 1.

The ordinance authorizing Hall's employment spelled out duties for his post and specified an annual salary of $11,000. In addition he will be furnished secretarial assistance, suitable work space, a travel allowance, an allowance for the preparation, publication and dissemination of literature concerning the city and an allowance for entertainment and miscellaneous expenditures. Amount of the additional funds was not listed in the ordinance, however.

Hall will supervise the operation of the city's Industrial Development Department including the development of industrial prospects, assistance to existing industries for expansion, assistance for the development of new trades and services here and assistance to the sponsoring organization of the Community Betterment program.

The new executive director is granted independency and flexibility, but the ordinance also sets out certain guidelines and budgetary requirements. His travel schedule will be at his own discretion in accordance with importance of possible developments and he must stay out work assignments for the department and any assistants, full or part-time. For the first year of his employment he will be granted one week of vacation.

Announcement of Hall's recommendation for the post was made last Tuesday by James Askren, First Ward city councilman, who heads the council's Industrial Development committee.

In related action, the council also approved an ordinance establishing a policy for reappointment of the Industrial Development Department Board. The council earlier had named a nine-member panel and these appointees, with the exception of councilmen now serving who may or may not be returned to office, will serve until April, 1967.

The present panel is composed of councilmen Askren, James Schumaker and Ralph Walker, in addition to the six following citizens: J. C. Griffin, W. A. Schien, James D. Menefee, Dennis Onwiler, E. W. Thompson and Abe Silverman. All members of the panel will serve for a one-year term with no salary.

Terms of the policy ordinance specify that the nine members shall be chosen three from the membership of the City Council, three from the Chamber of Commerce and three citizens at large. The committee will have a three-member executive committee.

The work includes sections with an average daily traffic count of 70 or more vehicles per day, a decrease from this year's requirement of 75 vehicles, along with a few gaps and short isolated gravel sections.

The actual application of the oil treatment to the routes will not be done until next spring and summer since this type of improvement is a warm weather operation. The Department's district maintenance crews however, will during the winter months prepare the roads by grading, ditch cleaning, stabilization work, etc., so that the actual application of oil can move forward at the earliest possible time next year.

Routes scheduled to receive oil surface treatment during 1966 in this area by county includes:

BENTON: Route T — 4.2 miles from present oil north-west to Route TT; and Route Z — 0.7 mile from Henry county east to present oil.

MONITEAU: Route D — 2.2 miles from present oil north-

UN Door Is Closed To Red China Again

Assembly, Vote Is Close One

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The General Assembly closed the door once more today to the seating of Red China in the United Nations, but by a much closer margin than in the past.

The vote was tied at 47 to 47 with 20 countries abstaining. Even if the Peking government had received a simple majority it would not have gained a seat. The 117-nation assembly had voted moments earlier that a two-thirds majority was required.

The vote was 56-49 with 11 abstentions.

The U.S.-sponsored move reaffirmed a similar decision taken in 1961, but by a wider margin.

The 119-nation assembly acted before a vote on a resolution calling for the expulsion of Nationalist China and the seating of the Peking regime.

U.S. representatives have insisted that Peking won't get even a simple majority. They said they called for reaffirmation of the two-thirds rule only to speed up a decision.

Informal polls have indicated, however, that Peking might have enough votes to get in if only a simple majority was required.

The United States has asked to speak just before the vote, apparently in a last effort to bolster its case. U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, who has been ill with a virus, planned to make the final argument.

U.S. delegate Charles W. Yost went before the assembly Tuesday night with the plea that the China representation issue is a vital one which should not be decided by a simple majority. He declared that peace in Asia is involved in the decision and the two-thirds rule is therefore mandatory.

Yost rejected claims by Peking's supporters that Red China might be more receptive to unconditional negotiations to end the Viet Nam war if it belonged to the world forum.

Snow, Storms In Northern Midwest Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Deep snow, accompanied by lashing winds and numbing cold, struck the northern Midwest today for the second straight day.

Snow and hazardous — driving warnings were posted for Upper Michigan, where 2 to 6 inches of additional snow along with high winds were expected.

Temperatures fell to near zero, or below, from Montana to Minnesota early today. Readings in the teens were reported as far south as Nebraska. Overnight lows included 2 below zero at Havre, Mont.; 1 above at Bemidji, Minn.; 7 at Bismarck, N.D., and 17 at Omaha.

International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border, had 10 inches of snow Tuesday, with 4 inches falling in 6 hours. Four inches of new snow fell in Houghton, Mich., giving the area an accumulation of 9 inches.

Gale warnings were up for Lakes Superior and Michigan, where winds of 55 to 72 miles per hour were expected. Lakes Huron, Erie and Ontario were posted for winds up to 54 m.p.h.

Violent thunderstorms struck Ohio Tuesday night. All roads were blocked temporarily in Attica near Tiffin in northern Ohio by fallen roofs and trees. Frederick H. Arth, 37, Canton, was killed while visiting at a Louisville, Ohio, house trailer when it was wrecked by high winds.

In New England, hazardous-driving warnings were issued for northern Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine as a low-pressure system moved across the region. Temperatures dropped into the teens.

A storm center which had lingered off shore dumped rainfall on Southern California again Tuesday, measuring up to 4 inches in some areas.

Jury Deliberates John Sears Case

The jury trial of John W. Sears, 21, California, Mo., charged with rape, ended shortly before noon Wednesday in Cooper County Circuit Court at Booneville and the jury began its deliberation at the conclusion of the noon recess.

Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax, in Booneville to testify as a witness for the state, said Sears did not testify Wednesday morning and the defense offered no testimony in his behalf.

Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz had rested the state's case Tuesday after the completion of testimony of five witnesses, including the victim of the alleged criminal assault, a rural Sedalia woman.

Sears was charged with attacking the Pettis County woman north of Sedalia in early February and he has been held without bail since his arrest two days later. The trial was transferred to Cooper County on a change of venue requested by the defense.

Ruptured by Bulldozer

Gas Line Ablaze At Green Ridge

A Sedalia bulldozer operator escaped injury Wednesday morning when the machine he was operating ruptured a high pressure propane gas line about four miles west of Green Ridge.

Kenneth Austin, 1320 South Stewart, employed by the Cover Construction Company of Sedalia, leaped from the bulldozer and fled on foot before the escaping propane gas ignited only seconds later — apparently from a nearby burning brush pile.

Austin was performing terracing work on land rented by J. B. Carter, a Green Ridge farmer, when the bulldozer came in contact with the gas line owned by the Phillips Pipe Line Company.

Austin told a Democrat-Capital reporter the escaping gas was already afire as he was going over the rail of the bulldozer.

"It sounded just like a big torch going off," Austin said.

Carter, the renter of the land, and Lawrence Beach, overseer of the farm for the owner who lives in Miami, Fla., were also lucky in averting injury when the gas ignited. Carter said he and Beach were in the field in his truck when they heard a noise near where the bulldozer was working and looked up to see what Carter described as "a grey cloud."

"We first thought Austin's 'Cat' had exploded," Carter said, "and we started up there." Had not the ground in the picked soybean field been rough, Carter said he and Beach would apparently have been much nearer the scene of the break when the escaping gas caught fire.

Highway Patrol Trooper W. T. Southwick of Sedalia was the first area authority to reach the scene. Trooper Southwick said he was on Highway 50 enroute to an accident call when he first observed the column of smoke at about 9:30 a.m. He immediately started toward the scene of the fire and the accident call was switched to another trooper.

The escaping gas sent flames jetting some 100 feet into the air and the column of black smoke was visible as far away as Sedalia.

Workmen for the Phillips Pipe Line Company arrived on the scene in short order and set up safety blockades on the road

Famed Actor Wants Public To Forget His Camel Role

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Omar Sharif, the most famous film sheik since Rudolph Valentino, thinks it is time the public let him down off his camel.

The young Egyptian-born actor, who won an Academy Award nomination for his portrayal several years ago of Sheik Ali in "Lawrence of Arabia," remarked:

"Many think I always wore robes and rode a camel. This is untrue. I hardly ever saw a camel before except on a cigarette box."

"It's hard to shake the image created by your first success. Most of the time one doesn't succeed in shaking it. But that is better than to have to try to shake the image of your first flop."

Slender, still in his early 30s,

Omar is good-natured, somewhat shy in manner. As Michel Shalhoub, son of a Syrian lumber importer, he was reared in Cairo and graduated from an English college there. A year later he turned to acting after he found the lumber business left him with a wooden feeling.

He made a couple of dozen films in Cairo, became a star in the Arab world, and married Faten Hamama, Egypt's best-known actress. They have a son, Tarek, 8.

He picked the name Omar Sharif — which means "the honorable Omar" — because of its sound. But when he first appeared on the "Lawrence of Arabia" sets, Irish actor Peter O'Toole objected:

"Nobody could be called Omar Sharif. I'm going to call you 'Cairo Fred.'"

The nickname stuck. "Orientals are violent people," he remarked. "They are emotional and sentimental and self-indulgent."

"In Egyptian melodramas your success was judged by how much you could make the audience cry. Since then I've had to learn emotional restraint — to realize that the most moving thing is not someone actually crying, but someone who wants to cry and is fighting it."

Sharif, a cultured man who speaks six languages, said that as an Oriental he had met with some difficulties in adjusting to the Western tempo.

"It is so speedy," he observed drily. "I try to sleep as long as possible because it is the slowest thing I know."

"An Oriental, as long as he has food enough for this day, neither works nor worries about tomorrow."

"But I suppose speed is necessary in the large cities of Europe and America because life there is so tough and competitive. If you don't keep at it, someone will take your place."

Gemini 6 and 7 To Travel Closely

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Gemini 6 and Gemini 7 will travel inches apart on their rendezvous next month if the goal of Manned Spacecraft Center engineers is achieved.

An official who asked not to be named told newsmen Tuesday that the engineers hope the spacecraft will maneuver to one to two feet apart and then fly in formation.

The closest previous figure used by spokesmen for the center was 10 feet.

Gemini 7, a 14-day mission, is scheduled for launch Dec. 4. Nine days later, on Dec. 13, Gemini 6 will be launched into the same orbit.

Gemini 6, a two-day mission, was postponed Oct. 25 when a rendezvous pod failed to orbit.

Sinatra Show Off Smoothly

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — From the preliminary skirmishes, one might have concluded that CBS in its documentary program on Frank Sinatra had a tiger in its schedule. When seen Tuesday night, however, it emerged as a nice little pussycat of a show.

Sinatra came off as talented, hard-working, generous, warm, family-loving, rich, responsible, witty and loyal. In portions of an interview with Walter Cronkite — the one he had sought to have withdrawn from the program — he explained that his reputation for a quick temper and ready fists related only to one incident in which he was provoked to action.

He complained, without apparent bitterness, about "ridiculous accusations and statements that I was consorting with mobsters and gangsters."

The well-publicized Sinatra romances were glossed over. His first wife, Nancy, appeared with him in some recent film. Mia Farrow's name was mentioned but once — by Sinatra to illustrate his problems with the press. It was in connection with a magazine picture showing them together, with Sinatra making a gesture, which, he said, was misinterpreted by a caption writer.

There were a few suggestions that Sinatra might have a few faults. At one point Cronkite said "he has often done things only an understanding friend would forgive," but no understanding friend appeared to supply chapter and verse.

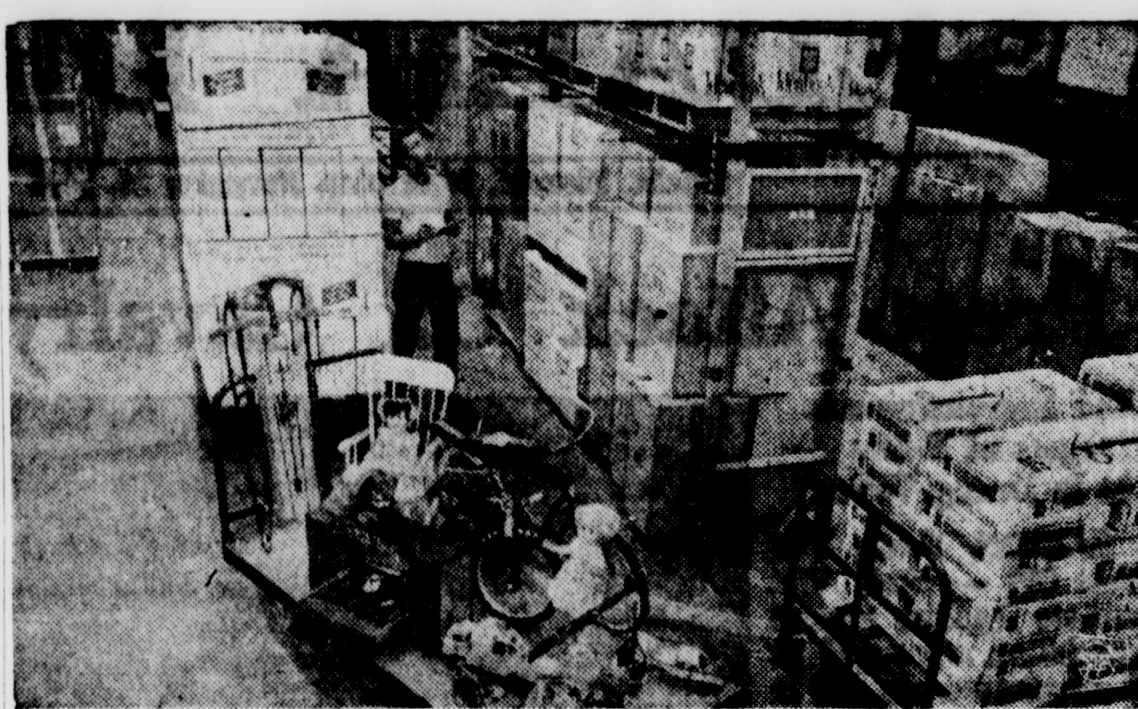

The strongest criticism of the singer came from his daughter, Nancy. "When you have a daddy, you kind of want him to be a daddy all the time. And sometimes, when he's with his friends, they carry on like a bunch of kids. And it's great they're having a marvelous time, but that bothers me a little."

We saw daddy and his friends having a marvelous time doing a benefit performance. Cronkite explained it was just part of their appeal — making the audience feel that what Sammy Davis, Dean Martin and Frank Sinatra were doing on stage to amuse them were the same things they do off-stage to amuse each other.

The program was interesting enough as a sketch but it dug no deeper than an article in a fan magazine and it is certainly hard to figure out why Sinatra got the wind up about the show. He came out of it looking about the size of Paul Bunyan.

Seek Body Of Missing Young Girl

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — In a stretch of desert just outside southern Arizona's biggest city, a search goes on for the body of pretty Alleen Rowe.

The 15-year-old girl's mother, Mrs. Norma Rowe, identified two metal hair curlers uncovered at the spot Tuesday as those of her daughter's. Alleen was wearing the curlers when she disappeared May 31, 1964.

Two young people charged with murdering Alleen helped officers in the search, but their attorneys said they would not allow John Saunders, 19, and Mary Rae French, 18, to go back today.

Alleen reportedly was wearing two rings, and Sheriff Waldon Burr said he would use a metal detector today to hunt for her shallow grave.

Officers said the grave may be deeper now because of an unusual amount of rain that fell in Tucson last year. Rains could have moved a large amount of sand from higher areas to where the grave was dug.

The possibility that the girl's body could have been moved by one of her attackers also was being considered, officers said. Although the girl's mother said her daughter had told her of a teen-aged sex club which she refused to join, police discounted this.

"There is nothing to substantiate her belief at this time," Police Chief Bernard Garmire said.

An informer told police that Alleen was killed by Saunders, Miss French and Charles Schmid, 23, Garmire said. All three were charged with murdering her and were jailed without bond.

Schmid, a former gymnastics champion, also has been charged with murdering two other girls. The bodies of Gretchen Fritz, 17, and Wendy Fritz, 13, daughters of a prominent Tucson surgeon, were recovered last week after the same informer had led officers to the scene.

Miss French, according to Tucson police, said in a written statement that she, Saunders and Schmid took Alleen to the desert. The statement said Saunders and Schmid led the victim away from the car and beat her with rocks until she died.

The girl said she heard Alleen screaming. Shortly afterward, Schmid came back for a shovel and Miss French followed him to the body. After burying the body, the three left the site. No motive has been disclosed by police.

Legislatures 'Inappropriate' For Revamping

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A Virginia educator Tuesday called state legislatures "the most inappropriate of all bodies" to reapportion themselves because they have too much self interest to do a good job.

Paul T. David, chairman of the University of Virginia department of government and foreign affairs, told a workshop at the National Municipal League that a relatively small state constitutional convention with its members elected by the state at large should do the redistricting.

He also suggested redistricting should be "as nearly automatic as possible" and subject to judicial review by state and federal courts.

St. Louis County Supervisor Lawrence Roos told another session that local officials must make sacrifices if public apathy, which holds back successful intergovernmental cooperation, is to be overcome.

"Most people just don't give a hoot until something breaks down," he said. Local officials, he said, must give up certain prerogatives in the interest of better area wide government.

Predict Improved Aged Medical Care

WASHINGTON (AP)—Needy elderly persons can look forward to improved medical care after the new Social Security health program starts to operate next year.

A basic reason, of course, is that the program will provide a floor of health protection for indigent persons over 65 as well as the better-off segment of the elderly.

But, equally important, the 1965 Social Security Act contained far-reaching provisions requiring a much higher standard of health care in most states for the needy aged.

These provisions have been overshadowed by the new Social Security program in the bill, popularly called medicare, and by the increases in most states for the needy aged.

Benefiting from the provisions will be 2,144,000 persons on the old age assistance rolls and 264,000 who receive help under the medical assistance for the aged program known as Kerr-Mills.

These 264,000 elderly persons have sufficient income to keep them off the welfare rolls but not enough to handle their medical expenses.

There was some expectation that the need for Kerr-Mills would diminish when the Social Security health care program gets under way.

But, to the contrary, congress-sional sponsors of the 1965 Social Security bill and officials of the Health, Education and Welfare — HEW — Department expect Kerr-Mills to expand considerably.

This will happen, they say, because the Social Security health benefits probably will cover only 50 to 60 per cent of the aged person's medical expenses, and because of provisions in the bill requiring greater benefits under Kerr-Mills.

One important side effect of the new program, they point out, will be to leave the states with more money to put into health care for their needy aged since the new program will provide for at least half of their medical needs.

HEW officials emphasize that Kerr-Mills so far has not come close to meeting its potential even under the original 1960 law. Seven states still do not participate; and some of those which do, offer only nominal benefits.

The two plans under the new Social Security health care program become operative July 1, 1966. They will include these benefits:

Plan A — Hospital, nursing home and home health care as well as out-patient diagnostic services.

Plan B—Doctors' services in the hospital, clinic and home, along with a variety of other benefits such as wheelchairs, braces and laboratory tests.

The needy aged, along with all other persons over 65, will be covered under Plan A as a matter of right.

Plan B is voluntary. Aged must sign up for it and pay $3 a month for it.

Government officials are planning to do everything they can to see that local welfare officials sign up the indigent aged under Plan B. The monthly charge can be included in their welfare payments.

But, even if an elderly person is under both plans, he will find that a major portion of his health costs is not covered. Principal exclusions are drugs, dental care, and eye care.

The provisions of the 1965 bill revising the Kerr-Mills program require that, by July 1, 1967, the indigent aged must receive as a minimum five types of health services.

They are hospitalization, out-patient hospital services, other laboratory and X-ray services, skilled nursing home care, and physicians' services in the office, home or hospital.

Many of the 43 states now in the Kerr-Mills program do not furnish all of these. But, under the new law, they will have to do so by July 1, 1967, to continue to receive federal aid. This applies both to the elderly on the public assistance rolls and those benefiting from the Kerr-Mills. Coverage of needy aged under Plans A and B will substantially meet the new Kerr-Mills tests.

But HEW officials point out that this should mean that the states then will be free to use the Kerr-Mills funds to round out a complete medical aid program.

The new provisions dealing with the indigent aged in the 1965 law also require that:

The states maintain a flexible income test so that there are no rigid limits which arbitrarily deny aid to persons with large medical bills.

There be no deductible or other cost-sharing device on the hospitalization which is furnished, and

The elderly needy be helped to meet the deductibles imposed under the new Social Security health program.

The new law also increases federal matching for medical assistance so that Washington will pay 55 to 83 per cent of the cost instead of 50 to 80 per cent. The lowest income states receive the highest matching percentage.

The law also establishes a 10-year goal designed to bring even better medical care to the indigent aged by 1975.

Last year, Washington put about $450 million in federal funds into Kerr-Mills. It is estimated this will be increased by $200 million annually under the new provisions of the 1965 law.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: We have not seen my husband's family for years. His mother is domineering and tyrannical. Her children have ulcers and they're nervous or divorced.

My husband was lucky. He broke away at 18 and has not considered himself part of the family since. We have made attempts at limited contact but it has always ended in a fight, so we gave up.

Now his parents are old and crying around Florida because nobody visits them. My husband has begun to talk about the early memories, which were good. He says he wishes things could have been different.

A question has been raised about whether we should attend the funeral when the time comes. I say "No!" He feels he should go. Isn't this the height of hypocrisy? Your opinion is wanted.—COLUMBUS COUPLE.

Dear Couple: When YOU die, Madame, I suggest that you leave your remains to a medical school. It would be interesting to find out what you've been using for a heart.

If you don't feel like going to the funeral when your in-laws pass on, stay home but please don't add to your husband's guilt by talking HIM out of going. I very much hope he goes to visit his parents while he can still see them alive. Without you they'll probably get along just dandy.

Dear Ann Landers: I call a

O.K. and like that. Well, Ann, the inevitable happened. We fell for each other.

Five months ago my husband died. I know I should stop seeing this married man but I'm so depressed I can't make the break.

Last night I looked at his billfold which was on the dresser. When I saw the picture of his wife and four children I felt like a worm. But what is a lonely widow to do? Please. Tell me.—VALENTINE.

Dear Val: Put that show on the road.

So you are lonesome? What was your excuse for the four years that your husband was alive? The short answer to your question, "What is a lonely widow to do?" goes like this: Straighten up and fly right.

Rotary Sees Film On Dropout Problem

One company's solution to high school dropout problem was shown in a film at Rotary Club meeting Monday noon at Bothwell Hotel. The film showed results of a work experience program at Racine, Wis., by the J. I. Case Co., in which students were given part time work at their plant while completing their high school work. This proved so successful that four additional industries in that city plan to start similar programs in their plants.

Jack Cunningham, program chairman for November, introduced P. E. Siller, who presented H. W. Branson, guidance director at Smith-Cotton High School.

Branson gave a report on the number of dropouts and also reasons for their leaving school. Guests were introduced by Bob Phillips as follows: Bob Trotter and Conrad Heer, student guests from Sacred Heart; Charles Alexander and Jim Arnest, student guests from Smith-Cotton; visiting Rotarians, Max Marsan, Sterling, Colo.; Graham Clark and Bill Todd from the School of the Ozarks, Point Lookout; and other guests, Dick Esser, guest of Jerry Harlan and Joe Botz, guest of Dr. Lawrence Geiger.

The meeting was presided over by Fred Crnic, president. Aubrey Case led the singing.

with Mrs. Lillian Maynard at the piano. Rev. J. R. Wallace gave the invocation.

Name Hockaday New Patrol Head

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes appointed Lt. Col. Edmund I. (Mike) Hockaday superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol Tuesday.

Hockaday, who has been second in command of the patrol, succeeds Col. High H. Waggoner, who died unexpectedly last Wednesday at Poplar Bluff.

Hockaday is 54. He has been on the patrol since July 1, 1937, joining with the same class of men that included Waggoner. They have worked closely for years.

Hockaday has held every rank on the patrol.

Hockaday said he and other members of the patrol were "very pleased that the governor said he would make the appointment from inside the patrol. It was a compliment to the patrol and to Col. Waggoner."

Hockaday will choose his own successor as lieutenant colonel.

The governor's office said Hockaday's appointment would be submitted to the Senate Wednesday for confirmation.

Much of Hockaday's career with the patrol has been at general headquarters in Jefferson City, where he has worked in the fingerprint and record section, been in charge of the crime detection laboratory and commanding officer of general headquarters as well as assistant superintendent.

By assignment of the governor he served five months as acting chief of police in Kansas City in 1961.

Hockaday was born June 3, 1911, on a farm near Pleasant Hill. He was graduated from Westminster College at Fulton with a degree in chemistry and a minor in mathematics.

He is also a graduate of the national police academy in Washington, conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, attended the supervisory officers' training school at Northwestern University, took special training in homicide investigation at Harvard and studied use of the polygraph or lie detector under its inventor, Leonard Keeler.

He is a member and has served as officer of many peace officers' organizations and is a life member of the National Rifle Association. He has fired in many matches as a member of the patrol's pistol team.

Hockaday and his wife have two daughters, Mrs. Charles Czarlinsky of Jefferson City and Mrs. William F. Dawdy of Springfield, four granddaughters and a grandson.

He is a member of the Presbyterian church.

He is an avid hunter and a fisherman.

Imaginary Cuban Tale Unfolded for Sorosis

In a most unique way Dr. Lowell Gish, Baker University, Baldwin, Kan., presented the program, "What About Cuba?" Monday afternoon at the Sorosis meeting held at Heard Memorial Club House.

The impression was left by Mrs. Herbert Studer, history and literature chairman, that her speaker was unable to come but had in his place sent Ramon Ortiz, a refugee from Cuba, who had been in the United States for two and a half years.

It was through the impersonation of a refugee that Dr. Gish told the story of what happened to Cuba and Castro. The character of Ramon Ortiz was created from research on the Cuban situation and what he had gathered in his talks with refugees.

Presenting himself as Ortiz, minister of transportation in the Castro Government, who broke with the government and came to this country, Dr. Gish held his audience spellbound as he told his fantastic story in an accent, stumbling now and then over English words or with hesitation in search for the right words.

In his impersonation Dr. Gish stressed the fact that people of other countries dream of a chance to come to this country or have something of this country brought to them.

Such was the dream of this refugee, a boy who grew up the son of a rich sugar plantation owner. He brought out the way of life in Cuba where the children who worked on plantations were never given a chance. The boy he had grown to love, although they were not allowed to visit each other's homes, had learned to read and who, like himself had dreams, died because of the lack of medical attention. Ortiz's father had refused to pay for medical attention to the son of the man who worked for him, because he had paid for this one he would have had to pay for others. It was through this story that Dr. Gish gave the first clue to the trouble brewing in Cuba before Castro.

He told the story of the shepherd boy who found a hole in the ground, went down into it where he saw a shrine with two rings. He picked up one of the rings, put it on his finger, and returned to where the other shepherds were, to find they were talking about him. They continued to talk, because, he realized, he was invisible. Then he turned the ring, and when he did they saw him, turning it again he found himself invisible and realized his power.

This he likened to Castro, the man on the white horse in the mountains, who saw the injustices to the people and gathered about him a following, which resulted in a revolution. But when he had gained this power, it was as the question Plato had asked, with power could an honest man remain honest.

The power was too much for Castro alone, Dr. Gish, as the refugee, pointed out. There were two ways he could turn, to this democracy or communism. He had been hurt by things that had happened to him through the United States, he felt it had not given him what he wanted, and more and more the communists gathered about him. In a country of political changing of patterns, he could not stand alone, and so he had to choose. The people had felt Castro was a wedge in the government, this was the opportunity, here was a man who could lead them to a real democracy but he failed them. As through the eyes of the refugee, Dr. Gish told of the day Castro armed the Boy Scouts, and he said you can't imagine what Cuba suddenly became. The gaiety of the people of Cuba turned to fear and disaster, and they wondered what had happened to their dream. Many hope, he said, they can infiltrate into their country some of democracy.

Dr. Gish, speaking as a refugee, told what democracy meant to the people of countries where there is no democracy and quoted the inscription on the statue of liberty.

He went on to say that he felt that the spirit of democracy is best expressed by the poets, ending his talk with the poem, "Chicago" by Carl Sandburg, in which Sandburg described the flaws in that city, as in other cities, but also the greatness that it represents, the things that have blended together to make democracy and opportunity.

Dr. Gish stepped from the platform as Ramon Ortiz, after his superb impersonation and sat down. Then Mrs. Studer stood and told the audience, stirred by the story of this man's personal experiences, she had a guest she would like to introduce, Dr. Lowell Gish.

Looking about the room to see another man rise for the introduction, the speaker again rose, put on his glasses, and went back to the platform to explain that he was not a Cuban refugee at all, but what he had given was simply an impersonation, and this time the audience was flabbergasted.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Joseph Maunders, president.

Mrs. Jack Cunningham, civics chairman, announced that the program on Dec. 6, would be Mrs. John Lilly, St. Louis, who would present "Chris'mus Gift."

First Jew ever to be admitted to the English House of Lords was Nathan Meyer Rothschild, in 1885.

Library Services Study Is Underway

An evaluative study of the present library services and future library needs for the five-county area now served by the Boonslick Regional Library, main office at Sedalia, and Trails Regional Library, Warrensburg, will begin this week, library officials have announced.

The study, to be made by the Missouri State Library under the immediate direction of Dorothy Naughton, field consultant, was requested by a unanimous vote of the two regional boards in joint meeting in Sedalia, Oct. 14.

The Boonslick Regional Library is composed of the library districts of Pettis, Cooper and Benton counties with community libraries in Warsaw, Booneville and Sedalia; rails Regional Library is composed of Johnson and Lafayette county districts with community libraries in Warrensburg, Lexington, Odessa, Concordia, Corder and Waverly. Each regional library operates a bookmobile.

Three municipal libraries within the five-county area—Sedalia, Higginsville and Holden Public Libraries—are not affiliated with either regional library.

Besides an objective assessment of the present services now available through the two regional libraries, the study will also be directed toward the feasibility of a unified plan for improving services in the five-county area. Basis for assessing the adequacy of the present service will be the state plan dish luncheon. Mrs. John Reams hostess.

Striped College PTA, Parent and Family Life Class, meets at the home of Mrs. Mark Bergman, Route 2, at 12:30 p.m. for a covered dish luncheon.

FRIDAY
Rebekah Sewing Circle meets at the lodge hall at 6 p.m. for a turkey dinner. Bring own service.

Past President's Club, Sedalia Garden Clubs, meets for luncheon at Flat Creek Inn at 12 noon.

Violet Camp 607, RNA, meets at 11 a.m. at 201 South Lamine. Covered dish dinner at noon.

called "Missouri Library Service—A Guide to its Development and Standards of Service" which suggests the development of larger units of library service around major and basic trade centers of the state.

The time schedule for the study calls for the survey and fact finding to be done during November and December with the final report and recommendations made to the Boonslick and Trails Library Boards by Jan. 1 or not later than Feb. 1, 1966. The boards will then develop their long range plans.

Some of the aspects of library operation to be studied will be the adequacy of the book collections, variety and depth of reference and non-book materials, variety and quality of services offered, quality of staff and personnel, adequacy of physical facilities, quality of administrative and fiscal control.

Esther Gilman, Regional Librarian for Trails Regional Library, is also acting administrator for the Boonslick Library during the period of the study. Miss Margaret Gates recently resigned her administrative position with the Boonslick Library to accept a similar position in the Manhattan, Kan., Public Library.

Business Analysis

Economy Picking Up New Power At Halfway Point

NEW YORK (AP) — The economy is picking up new strength at the halfway mark in the final quarter of the year.

And the hullabaloo over aluminum prices — even the temporary breakdown of electric power in the industrial Northeast — is likely to add to the tempo on the final weeks of the year — if for no other reason than the rush to catch up after the disruption and uncertainty of the first two weeks of November.

The statistics of the economy seem sure to be fatter at year-end — both in dollar volume — influenced by rising prices — and in unit volume.

Copper prices are going up as supplies tighten. Part of the push behind prices in this metal is from political uproar in production centers in South America and central Africa, forcing world prices higher. Much of the rise in the United States is due to increasing demand for metal.

Steel production is taking a tentative step upward again. It had been lagging since a labor settlement early in September ended fear of a strike. This sent customers to living off of the stockpiles built up as a precaution.

Auto production is booming.

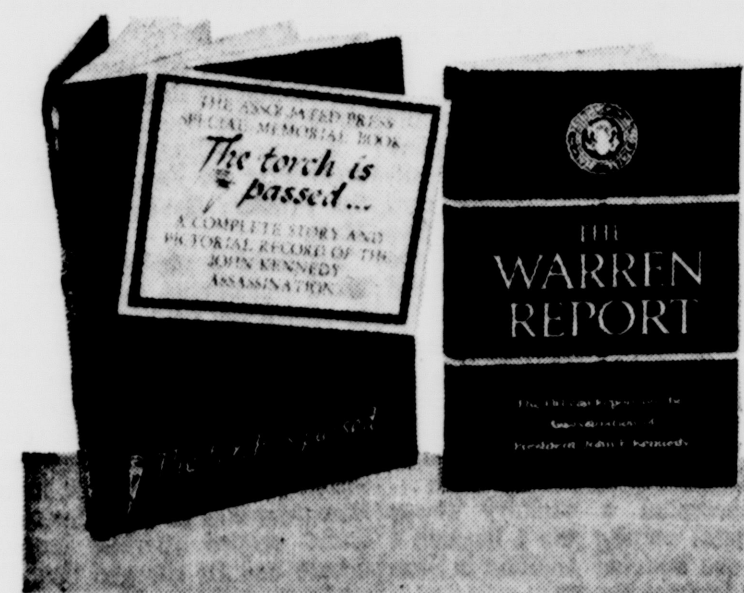

Metab Lodge Business Meet Here Saturday

The Metab Lodge, Order of the Arrow, the honorary camping group of the Boy Scouts of America will hold its annual Fall business meeting in Sedalia Saturday. This event, which involves some 200 members in the Lake of the Ozarks Council, will take place at the First Christian Church with registration beginning at 8 a. m.

The morning period will be devoted to workshops, while the afternoon will involve business meeting under the direction of Chief Larry Matthews of Jefferson City. The business meeting will culminate with a dinner Saturday evening and the installation of new lodge officers.

The Uncas Chapter, which is a part of the Twin Forks District, is in charge of arrangements. Harry Lambirth, Sedalia, is chapter Chife with Millard Secora as advisor.

Two Years Afterwards—The Basic Books on the Tragedy Are Still Available

The two "must" books on the assassination of President Kennedy are still available to readers of this newspaper.

These are:

THE WARREN REPORT—a handsome, hard back edition of this famous document, as published by The Associated Press, the great news gathering organization of which this newspaper is a member. It costs only $1.50.

THE TORCH IS PASSED, also produced by The AP. It's a dramatic, detailed, handsomely illustrated account of our late President's final days and hours, and what happened thereafter. With about 4 million copies already sold, it is by far the most popular of all the books dealing with the tragedy. It costs only $2.

You can order as many copies of one or both as you wish by sending an appropriate money order or check to The Torch Is Passed, in care of this newspaper, Box 350, Poughkeepsie, N.Y. Here is a coupon for your convenience.

OBITUARIES

Grover Taggart (Marion)

Grover Taggart, 78, Marion, died at 4 a. m. Tuesday at the University of Missouri Medical Center, Columbia, after having been a patient there for the past three weeks.

Mr. Taggart was a retired worker at the state hospital in Fulton and had worked there 16 years.

He was born on May 27, 1887, in Marion, the son of Francis and Matilda Dawson Taggart.

to hold back observers lured to the area by the column of flames and smoke.

J. W. Wofford of Sedalia, a supervisor for the pipe line company, said gas feeding the ruptured line was shut off at the nearest pump station, which is located at Leeton in Johnson County. Workmen were standing by waiting for gas in the line to burn out and at noon the flames were still coursing high into the sky.

Wofford had few details of the break available as workmen were unable to examine the ruptured line. He said there were three lines in that immediate area and it was not determined which one, or if more than one, had been ruptured. Flames at 11:30 a. m. still showed little sign of subsiding and sudden bursts of the inflammable fuel were periodically sending mushroom flames into the air and spewing burning fuel out on to the ground.

Observers were being held back several hundred yards from the burning gas.

The charred bulldozer was still sitting atop the burning pipe and how extensive the damage would be to the machine was not immediately known. The bulldozer was a $32,000 machine when new a year ago.

Carter said there was no damage to his truck as the fuel ignited, but glass in Beach's automobile, parked in the field about a 100 yards from the broken line, was cracked by the intense heat. After reaching safety, Austin was driven to Beach's auto by Carter and Austin managed to start the Beach car and drive it away.

A firefighting unit from White-man Air Force Base arrived at the scene about 11 a. m. and stood by as the burnout of the

Demo Women Hear Senator At Marshall

U. S. Senator Edward V. Long (D-Mo.) praised the Democratic administration and the work of the 89th Congress when he spoke in Marshall Tuesday night at a dinner honoring the Democratic Women of Saline County.

Senator Long said "The administration has stood firm in Asia and in Latin America. We have met Communist aggression with the force that is judged necessary to stop it, but with the restraint that leaves her way open for peaceful settlement."

The first session of the 89th Congress produced "progressive legislation that means honor to our party and service for America," Senator Long said.

"In 1964, Democrats pledged support for Federal efforts to improve American education. In 1965, we enacted legislation that provides more than a billion dollars in aid to elementary and secondary education," the Senator said.

"In 1964, Democrats promised to continue the fight for a program of health care for older Americans under Social Security. In June of 1965, President Johnson signed into law legislation that provided the long sought health care, plus an increase in social security benefit payments," Senator Long said.

"Today, with the threat of a crippling steel strike averted by President Johnson, we are continuing the longest and the strongest economic upswing in our peacetime history. Wages and profits are both hitting new highs."

The Missouri senator noted that "under the administration of President Johnson, there has been an increasing effort to utilize the talents of American women in government. Missourians can take pride in the large number of high federal government posts held by women from our state."

The senator said he is "greatly encouraged" by the support he has received in his Senate investigations of government snooping and wiretapping.

"We all have a big stake in seeing that government officials do their business fairly and justly. Letters from all over the state, and all over the country, indicate widespread appreciation for my efforts to protect individual rights," Senator Long said.

Rusk, RFK Given Rude Reception

CONCEPCION, Chile (AP) — Spitting South Americans gave a rude reception Tuesday night to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in Chile and to Secretary of State Dean Rusk in Uruguay.

About 100 pro-Communist students spat on Kennedy at the University of Concepcion, threw eggs, rocks and money at him and drowned him out when he tried to speak to a student crowd of several thousand. It was the only unpleasant note to an otherwise enthusiastic reception in an area where Chilean Communists and Marxist Socialists have their greatest strength.

The eggs and stones missed the New York senator, but spit fell on his forehead and clothes.

Rusk was the target of a 25-year-old man who slipped up and spat at him in Montevideo just after the secretary had placed a wreath at the monument to Gen. Jose Artigas, Uruguay's national hero. State Department press officer Richard I. Phillips, accompanying Rusk, said the secretary was not hit.

The man shouted "This is in the name of my people" as he spat. Police seized him and took him away. In his pockets were leaflets with the words "Fuera Rusk (Rusk get out)."

Rusk was making a side trip to Argentina and Uruguay before the opening today of the inter-American foreign ministers' conference in Rio de Janeiro. Arriving in Rio Tuesday night, he said his reception during his trip had been "extremely hospitable...with the exception of one young individual whose welcome seemed to be a little unconventional."

Kennedy, who is on a South American tour, insisted on going to the university despite warnings of a hostile reception. He waited calmly on the stage of the gymnasium for 20 minutes while the small group of leftists sang the national anthems of Cuba and Chile and screamed "Assassin" and "Yankee go home" at him.

When the senator finally started to speak, the jeers drowned him out. He asked if they would come forward to discuss matters with him, and the leftists shouted back that he should come to them.

Kennedy started toward them. As he approached, some tried to kick him, others spat at him and others burned a U.S. flag in a corner of the gymnasium.

Other students tried to quiet the leftists. Some challenged them to fight. Aides and news-men surrounded the senator and he left the building.

Outside some anti-Communist students approached Kennedy's wife, Ethel, and said to her, "Senora, please, forgive us for this shameful situation." This group waited in front of the gym and when the leftists came out set on them with clubs and stones.

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Leonard H. Heise, president of the Eye Bank Association of America, says more than 90 per cent of corneal transplants to blind persons have been successful.

Heise said "This is relative. One person may not feel such an operation is a success unless he can read the daily papers or look up a number in the telephone book. Another totally blind person may feel it's a success if he can see well enough to get around."

New Rights Action Gets Top Priority

Johnson Calls For Measures To End 'Injustices'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has announced a new priority for the 1966 session of Congress: passage of a civil rights bill "to prevent injustice to Negroes at the hands of all-white juries."

The President, in his most sweeping civil rights speech since June, also told a meeting of 200 civil rights leaders Tuesday night he has alerted all federal agencies that racial justice must be sought actively as "a positive purpose rather than a distant goal."

To this effect, Johnson said, he will ask the Civil Rights Commission today to make a broad study of the problems of race and education in the nation in hopes of aiding local governments to "build a school system that is color blind."

"We must do more. We will do more," the President said.

The rights leaders begin a two-day planning session today with government officials to lay the groundwork for next spring's White House Conference on Civil Rights.

The President told them, "The tide of change is running with the Negro American on this mid-November evening. Neither the ignorant violence of the Klan nor the despairing of Watts can reverse it."

The President's jury proposal received almost immediate endorsement from Rep. Emanuel Celler, head of the House Judiciary Committee which handles civil rights legislation.

"It's a drastic step," the New York Democrat said, "however, it's become essential. I think President Johnson is on the right track."

But Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers of Alabama described the President's proposal as "somewhat of a disappointment."

"Every lawyer recognizes that legislation that would affect the jury system is indeed an extreme measure," Flowers said in a statement, "and strikes at the very foundation of our judicial processes."

James Farmer, head of Congress of Racial Equality, urged the government to go even further and make it "a federal crime to commit violence against a person for exercising federally guaranteed rights."

The President's address spelled out a list of specific steps he said the government must take to translate the laws on statute books "into better lives for all Americans — this year and next year and for as many years as it takes to get that job done."

On a new jury bill, the President said he has asked the Justice Department "to prepare jury legislation that is clear in its purpose and specific in its aim."

Noting that the government already has joined in three suits that challenge discrimination in jury selection, Johnson said: "We intend to make the jury box, in both state and federal courts, the sacred domain of justice under law."

Fund, Kull said that it was nearing the $70,000 mark and he felt that the goal of $79,833, would be reached. This, he pointed out, will be an advantage for William Hall, the new industrial director, as this is one thing industries ask about when seeking a location.

Members of the board had met Hall at the beginning. Although he did not stay for the meeting he was there to meet the members as they came in.

Both Boyle and Carl Yates, Jr., president, complimented the committee in its quick action of securing the new industrial director.

Boyle stated that the color film on Sedalia is expected to arrive soon and there will be a public showing at the Fox Theatre after which the film will be available to organizations.

Dick Monsees, director of agriculture and farm marketing, reported that he had presented trophies to the grand champion bull and grand champion heifer owners at a recent show and sale here at the fair grounds, and that there will be another show on the 19th.

Other two members of the executive committee will be elected from the full board, however, one must be from the three members named by the Chamber of Commerce and the other from the three members representing the citizens at large.

Meetings of the Industrial Development Board will be at least on a monthly basis, the ordinance indicates.

Councilman Askren told the Democrat-Capital Tuesday night that headquarters for the new executive director have not yet been selected, although an announcement as to where his offices will be located is anticipated soon. The Chamber of Commerce board of directors Tuesday extended an offer to provide the quarters, it was reported, but no action has been taken on this proposal.

Two letters from property owners were received regarding a proposed vacating of an alley from Kentucky to Monticue between Second and Third Streets and south from this alley 60 feet between Kentucky and Main.

The signers of the letters, Gladys McKee, 227 South Monticue, and Mrs. Edith Dixon, 229 South Monticue, and another property owner who was present at the council meeting, Lee Redmon, 219 South Monticue, indicated concern that access to a sewer line in the alley might not be available if the alley is vacated.

An ordinance to close the alley has not yet been prepared for council consideration, but City Engineer Cunningham told council a utility easement for maintenance is customary and if the ordinance to vacate the alley is passed the easement should allow access.

Dan Robinson, of the Bryant Motor Company, had presented the proposal for closing of the alley and told the council that he has plans to pave the firm's used car lot fronting on Kentucky and adjacent to the alley in question.

The council approved a revised bid totaling $4,190.40 from the Atkinson Construction Company for construction of curb and guttering on Murray Avenue from Ninth to 12th Street and also awarded the contract with the work to be done under a special tax bill to property owners involved. Action had been held up last session by the council when the Atkinson firm, the lone bidder, submitted a bid above the estimate of the city engineer.

In other action the council: Accepted a sanitary sewer lateral serving lots 1 through 4 in the Bottcher Addition in Sewer District No. 93.

Approved the drawing of a rider to the lease of the Sedalia Jaycees on the Missouri Jaycee headquarters building on East Highway 50 in order that the state Jaycee organization might assume maintenance. The Jaycee building is located at the Sedalia Memorial Airport on city property leased to the local Jaycees.

Authorized the Sedalia Fun Corps to seek approval from the Federal Aviation Agency for construction of a building near the Jaycee headquarters at the city airport. Councilman James Schumaker explained the group is made up of members of the Shrine Club who ride mini-bikes in various parades here.

Referred to the council's finance committee a request for partial payment of $25,389.40 to the Menefee Construction Company for work on the 1,600-foot extension to the present runway at the city airport. The entire project, including lighting not yet installed, is to cost some $35,000, but the city is to receive federal matching funds for a $17,500 reimbursement.

Amended a section of the city's licensing ordinance setting up an annual license fee of $75 for the following classifications: wholesalers, wholesale butchers, wholesale merchants and advertising solicitors.

Approved an ordinance establishing a street light at 416 East Walnut.

Jackson Letts, vice-president of the Prudential Insurance Company's Southwestern Home Office at Houston, retired Nov. 1, after a distinguished 36 years. A native of Sedalia, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Letts, and is a brother of Mrs. M. E. Gouge, 810 South Carr.

On his final day, Oct. 29, in Houston, Orville Beal, president; Robert Harvey, executive vice-president, and other company officials flew in from the Corporate Home Office in Newark, N. H., to honor Letts with a special retirement breakfast. Following the breakfast the company auditorium was filled with over 1,000 employees at an assembly in his honor and a dinner was given to him that evening.

Elmer McClung, local manager of Prudential, who has been associated with him since 1952, said that Letts has been a one man Chamber of Commerce for Sedalia and Pettis County. In cities all over the nation, Kansas City, Chicago, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Miami and Washington, D. C., whenever Letts had a speaking engagement he would always mention his home town and county with pride.

He joined The Prudential in 1929, subsequently managed company offices in St. Louis and Atlanta, and in 1936 was named regional manager at Philadelphia. Four years later, he was transferred to the Home Office headquarters at Newark, N. J., and there was appointed assistant secretary of the company in 1943. In 1947 he was elected vice-president. He was assigned to the Southwestern Home Office in 1950, the year it was established, and went to Active in civic and community life in Houston, Letts is a former president and current member of the advisory committee of Junior Achievement, Inc.; and former vice-chairman and current member of the board of the Houston and Harris County Red Cross Chapter. He has been vice-president of the Visiting Nurse Association and of the American Cancer Society.

He has been a member of the Southwest Executive Development Program, and is a former member of the board of trustees of the United Fund. He is a member of the Houston Country Club and the Ramada Club.

Surf Riding Enchantment With American Teenagers

By PATRICK MCNULTY
The Associated Press

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Surf riding is the new enchantment of the American teen-age world, luring them, hundreds of thousands strong, like lemmings into the ocean waves.

It may be the nation's fastest-growing sport, but more than a sport.

Some say it has spawned a teen-age subculture, a way of life that utterly absorbs some devotees — a "cult of the surfer."

It began centuries ago in Hawaii. It spread to the mainland in the 1920s. It became a minor mania in the 1950s with development of feather-light foam-fiberglass boards anyone could handle.

And now in the 1960s it is the "in" thing around America's entire wave-lapped perimeter — and, oddly, inland, too. The surfer has become a man of status in the teen scene.

His headquarters is southern California.

At dawn of a summer morn breakers at scores of beaches along hundreds of miles of California coast are plastered with flying boards carrying people from 10 to 25, lots of them girls.

At dawn of a winter weekend the scene's the same, with the cast wearing skin-diver suits to ward off chill.

A decade and more of this mass dedication has produced a stereotype of the youthful surfer.

He's a sunburned lad, his inordinately long locks bleached yellow by the sun, clad in loose knee-length trunks called baggies.

He drives an ancient "woody" — wood paneled station wagon — with rack for boards atop and a mattress in the back for sleeping at distant beaches. Or if he's really "the most," he navigates an ancient hearse.

He has a curvy girl friend with shoulder-length tresses who may or may not surf herself but in either case is a "surf bunny." She favors bikinis.

He and his pals speak a language all their own. A tumble is a "wipeout." The hollow of a wave is "the tube." A special big wave board is a "gun." A chap who flits acrobatically on a wave is a "hot dogger."

His treasure is his board. It is custom made and costs $100 to $200. Ends and sides are curved and tapered to his whim. Jutting from the underside of the stern is a sharp-edged fin, six inches deep, for stability.

The board is 9 or 10 feet long, 3 or 4 inches thick, about 2 feet wide, made of foam plastic coated with fiberglass, maybe elaborately decorated, and weighs perhaps 30 pounds. It will zip 30 miles per hour on a good wave.

Why the surfing obsession? A girl: "It's all feeling and sensation, a feeling of accomplishment."

A contest champion: "It's something very spiritual, a kinship."

"The ego is challenged. You have a chance to prove yourself. If you get wiped out, there's always another wave, a repeated challenge. If you meet it head on and succeed, you feel real gratification."

An older surfer: "It's a release from the exploding tensions of the 20th century, an escape from the hustling city of steel and concrete and a return to nature's reality, a special kind of madness, a feeling for the sea, a combination of love, knowledge, respect, fear."

Says one psychiatrist: "Surfing's lure for teen-agers follows a classic pattern of youngsters trying to be romantic rebels without a cause. Surfing fits beautifully as the surfer — a tanned, graceful Galahad — is a heroic lure for young people searching for romance and freedom. Then, too, the sea is always an attractive symbol for wild, unbounded freedom."

How popular is surfing?

Fifteen thousand turned up for a contest of Gilgo Beach, N.Y. There are surfers on the Great Lakes. On lakes too small for waves, surfers ride the wake of small boats.

Hundreds of spots on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf Coasts are known as surfing beaches, areas where rock reefs, coral or sand bars cause swells to hump up farther seaward than usual.

The U.S. Surfing Association estimates there are 600,000 surfers in this country, probably a conservative estimate.

Garrison Makes Another Bid For Rushing Laurels

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

Associated Press Sports Writer

Wait Garrison, Oklahoma State's rugged fullback, made his bid for another Big Eight rushing championship the hardest way possible, with a 121-yard gain against unbeaten Nebraska.

Garrison almost won the game with an 18-yard bolt to the Husker 5 on the final play, and Bob Devaney, Nebraska coach, called him "the best fullback I've ever seen in the Big Eight."

His big game put Garrison within range of Missouri's Charlie Brown, who lifted his league-leading total to 779 with 96 against Oklahoma. Brown leads by 104 yards, but the catch is, Brown has one game left against Kansas while Garrison has two, K-State and Oklahoma.

Garrison needs 208 yards in his last two games to join the Big Eight's select list of backs with 2,000 yards rushing for a career. This means 104 yards a game, but don't count him out. He has averaged almost 106 his last four games. He won the crown with 730 last year.

Tough 2-Day Test Awaits Stover Team

After three games the Bulldogs of Stover have yet to be beaten but the weekend of Nov. 19-20 may tell the true story of the Stover team. Iberia and Lincoln will be in town that weekend to test the Bulldog defense. Although both schools have been hard hit by graduation they are expected to be tough. If Stover could take both games, or even split the two, they would have to be recognized as a contender.

Iberia will be led by Ronnie Shreve (6-4) and Richard Pemberton (6-2). The Rangers usually have one of the finest defenses in the conference blended with their deliberate style of offense.

Lincoln, expected to be down this year, instead is just as strong as last year's team. Not only does Lincoln have the size in 6'6" Duane Brandsgaard, but they also have quick guards in Bill Farris and Galen Davis. Both guards are fine ball handlers and possess good drive.

The big gun for the Bulldogs thus far this season had been Don Shackelford who is hitting 16 points per game. But the big factors in Stover's success have been the people below Shackelford. Their averages are: John Taylor, 10.6; Ed Eddings, 7.6; Ted Koester, 7.3; Steve Rowland, 7.0; Merl Wilson, 4.6; Doug Kroesch, 4.6 and Jim Swartz, 2.6.

In the over all picture the Bulldogs have hit 70 field goals out of 169 tries for a 41.4 percentage. Stover is averaging 61.6 points per game while holding their opponents at 50. Shackelford is the leading shooter, hitting 20 for 31 from the field for a 64.5 percentage. He is also the leading rebounder averaging 10 per game.

Tim Van Galder of Iowa State took over the Big Eight passing lead with 1,163 yards and the total offense lead at 1,342 with his 344 run-pass yards against K-State, the second highest in league history.

Colorado's Bernie McCall is second in passing with 1,032 and in total offense at 1,269. Fred Duda of Nebraska is third with 924 total offense.

Other rushing leaders are William Harris Colorado 638, Frank Solich of Nebraska 574, Harry Wilson of Nebraska 512, Carl Reese of Missouri 479, Les Webster of Iowa State 459 and Ron Kirkland of Nebraska 450.

In pass receiving, Nebraska's Freeman White has 458 on 28 catches, six for touchdowns; Eppie Barney of Iowa State 411 and Tom Busch of Iowa State 359 on 23.

Missouri's Gary Lane tied Frank Rogers of Colorado for the scoring lead at 48 points. Lane also moved within 12 yards of 3,000 career total offense, reached by only seven players in conference history.

Other leaders are Larry Wachholtz of Nebraska, 442 in punt runbacks; Ossie Cain of K-State, 349 in kickoff returns and Bill Lynch of Kansas, 42.3 punting average.

In the team figures, Nebraska still leads in rushing offense at 285.1 to Missouri's 240.6; in total offense, 403.2 to Colorado's 301.1, in rushing defense 104 to Missouri's 115.3 and total defense, 199.8 to Colorado's 231.5. Van Galder's spree moved Iowa State to the lead in pass offense at 129.2 yards a game. In pass defense, Iowa State also leads.

Around the Big Eight training camps, Missouri coach Dan Devine was worried about the flu and Kansas coach Jack Mitchell about injuries.

Mat Work Earns Shane $300 Purse

Bobby Shane, a 220-pound professional grappler from St. Louis, happily collected $300 in cash from promoter Gust Karras after being the last man in the ring in a six-man wrestle royal that proved to be more of a display of The Viking's unpopularity than anything else. That, and an otherwise completely action-filled card was sponsored by American Legion Post 16, at Convention Hall Tuesday night.

The wrestle-royal, main event of the evening, was largely a free-for-all among six pro wrestlers, each of whom had posted a $50 entry fee for the event. The referee was kept outside the ring.

Any man thrown over the top ropes was automatically out of the action. The Viking ended up outside the ring several times, but it took nine minutes and 40 seconds to get him over the ropes. He was the last man in Shane's way.

First out of the ring was The Stomper, who absented himself from the scene, after persuasion from two other wrestlers, in one minute. Thor Hagen was next in six minutes, 20 seconds; then Jim Webba, 7:10; then sparkling Victor Rivera, 9:15, and then the Viking.

The semi-final event matched The Viking and The Stomper and was, consequently, one of the roughest (and bloodiest) battle fans in this area have witnessed in some time. With both wrestlers sporting head lacerations, special referee Bulldog Henning disqualified each man after 12 minutes and 40 seconds, during which one or the other was mostly out of the ring.

The finest straight wrestling exhibition seen here in some time was put on by Thor Hagen, 240, from Minneapolis, against Victor Rivera of Mexico, who is 20 pounds lighter. It took the full time of 20 minutes before a draw was declared, greeted by a burst of applause from the fans, who, incidentally, were left with the impression that both wrestlers had learned something from each other. Quick moves and clean breaks were the order of the day.

The opening event of the evening pitted popular Bobby Shane, 220, against Jim Webba, 240, with Shane declared the winner in 17 minutes and 35 seconds after a jack-knife hold incapacitated the brawny Webba.

Next wrestling action here will be held next Tuesday at Convention Hall. The card will be announced later.

Dutchman Purchases America Cup Winner

NEW YORK (AP) — Constellation, the 12-meter American sloop that beat British challenger Sovereign for the America's Cup in 1964, has been sold to Pierre J. Goemans, a Dutch businessman, for an undisclosed sum.

The yacht, designed by Olin Stephens, is believed to have cost the syndicate that financed her $500,000.

FIRST WOMAN—Berdell Campbell, 1909 South Lamine, is the first Pettis County woman to report a deer kill since the season opened Monday. She bagged this six-point buck near Knob Noster State Park Tuesday morning, using a 30.06 rifle. The animal weighed in at 110 pounds field dressed.

Peay, White And Twilley Leaders

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Tulsa's amazing little Howard Twilley and Nebraska's 6-foot-5 Freeman White, possibly the nation's two best ends, and tackle Francis Peay of Missouri are the leading offensive All America candidates in the Midlands.

The Associated Press regional board placed this trio at the top of its list of offensive players in its semifinal report of the season. Several others, including Bill Anderson, Tulsa's record-smashing quarterback and Oklahoma State fullback Walt Garrison, rated only a shade behind the top three.

"I feel that Twilley is the best end in the nation and White is the second best," said board member Bill Hodge, sports editor of the Wichita Eagle-Beacon.

Bill Connors, sports editor of the Tulsa World, said every writer and coach who has seen Twilley has been convinced of his greatness.

"Frank Broyles of Arkansas said Twilley is as good as any college receiver he has seen," Connors said. "Phil Cutchin of Oklahoma State said flatly he was the best receiver he'd ever seen in college ball, and that his one-handed catch against OSU was the best ever, anywhere."

"The amazing thing to me is that Twilley is gang-tackled 15 times a game, takes terrific punishment, but almost never drops a pass and hasn't missed a down from injuries since he became a regular in 1963."

Buck Turnbull of the Des Moines Register had high praise for White as a sure-handed receiver with outstanding talent.

"White is probably the fastest end in college ball despite his 221 pounds," said Turnbull. "He can break any game open on one play, such as his 95-yarder against Colorado this year."

Less Activity On Second Day Of Deer Season

On Tuesday the second day of the deer season in Missouri, less activity was noted in the Knob Noster State Park area compared to opening day Monday.

Nine bucks and nine does were taken Tuesday compared to a total of 58 Monday.

The largest animal taken was by W. G. Carnes, Knob Noster, who shot a 180-pound buck.

A Sedalia, Mrs. Verdel Campbell, wife of William W. Campbell, 1009 South Lamine, bagged a 110-pound buck.

No accidents or arrests have been reported during the two-day-old season.

Coach And Steve Juday Disagree

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Quarterback Steve Juday of Michigan State was embarrassed at being named the Associated Press Back of the Week. He didn't deserve it, he said.

Not so said his coach, Duffy Daugherty.

"He certainly deserved it, said Daugherty.

"Steve is a wonderful boy and he gave us everything he had in that important game," Daugherty said.

The AP named Juday to honor because of his three touchdown passes and generalship in MSU's 27-13 victory over Indiana last Saturday that gave the Spartans the undisputed Big Ten Championship and assured a Rose Bowl appearance, as it turned out.

Juday, throwing two touchdown passes, led a last-quarter attack which brought Michigan State from behind a 13-10 score to ultimate triumph and its ninth straight victory over-all. He had thrown the first touchdown pass in the second period.

The Back of the Week award caught Juday, a cool young man on the field, quite unprepared.

"Naturally, I'm happy about it, but a little embarrassed, too," he said.

He said he felt that way because the victory over Indiana was "strictly a team job."

Bukich Now Is Top Ranked In Passing In NFL

NEW YORK (AP) — Any preseason rating of the quarterbacks in the National Football League would have placed Rudy Bukich of the Chicago Bears among the also-rans. But the much-traveled veteran quickly elbowed Bill Wade out of the No. 1 job with the Bears and today ranks as the leading passer in the NFL statistics.

Although Bukich's yardage of 1,609 is topped by four other quarterbacks, he has clicked for 106 touchdowns while completing 109 of 188 thrown. Most important, Bukich has been intercepted only five times. In the involved standings based on four different categories, the 33-year-old passer rates No. 1 at the moment.

Jim Brown moved into the 1,000-yard class for the seventh time and moved almost 500 yards ahead of his closest competitor in the runaway race for the rushing title. The Cleveland fullback has carried 198 times for 1,064 yards and Timmy Brown of Philadelphia is second with 108 attempts and 591 yards.

Jim also took over the scoring lead with 84 points, adding three touchdowns Sunday against the New York Giants.

John Havlicek's 20-foot jump shot in the last 15 seconds gave the Boston Celtics a come-from-behind 108-105 victory over the San Francisco Warriors on the Pacific Coast in the other NBA game scheduled Tuesday. At one point, San Francisco led by 16 points.

Northwest Gets Ready For 'Cats

Northwest's Mustangs, paced by Gary Brownfield's 30 points, trounced the Green Ridge Tigers 64-24 in the first PBCAA Conference game of the season for the two teams. The game was played at Northwest Tuesday night.

Northwest scored three-times as many points in the first quarter as Green Ridge could muster in the entire first half.

Leading 29-5 going into the second half, Northwest dumped another 23 points through the basket in the third quarter to insure the victory. The Tigers' best during the game netted 10 points, in the last quarter of play.

Brownfield scored 14 goals from the field and hit on two charity tosses for his 30 points. Fred Kraft padded that effort with ten points of his own.

Top men for Green Ridge were Steve Ray and Ragar, who hit for five points each.

The only game Green Ridge won all night long was the volleyball game, 42-18. Binder topped the Green Ridge scoring column with eight points, while Patty Smith was high for Northwest with five.

In B-team play, Northwest trounced Green Ridge, 59-24, with Larry Brownfield doing the honors with 20 points in an effort to copy brother Gary. High for Green Ridge was Richardson with eight.

The Mustangs will next see action against the powerful Warsaw Wildcats in another league encounter. The game will highlight basketball action in the PBCAA this week since Northwest and Warsaw for all technical purposes, are still the 1-2 teams in the league. The game will be played at Northwest.

California Defeats Smithton

The California Pintos, strong as ever, opened their 1965-66 campaign with a 91-45 triumph over the Smithton Tigers, who, by comparison, never really got their game off the ground at California Tuesday.

The Pintos, with 11 men on the score board, rammed 22 points through the bucket in the first quarter, twice as many as the Tigers—giving an indication of what was ahead.

California's lowest per-quarter performance in the contest netted 20 tallies, in the third quarter. Smithton's worst effort totalled four points, in the second period, while their best put 16 points on the board in the third quarter.

Jim Lawson, a 6-1 senior, who averaged five points again last year, spearheaded the California drive Tuesday with 14 points, followed by Steve Liebi's 12. Top gun for the Tigers was Mickey Selken, who connected on four field goals and five free throw attempts for 13 points.

The left left Smithton holding a 1-3 record for the season, with the Cole Camp Bluebirds set as their next rivals on Tuesday of next week.

B-team action saw California beat Smithton 42-32 on John Hill's 11 points. Tops for Smithton was Hammy with 14.

Score by quarters:

California 22 26 20 23—91

Smithton 11 4 16 14—45

Individual scoring: California — Jim Lawson, 7-0-14; Steve Wise, 4-1-9; Larry Carpenter, 4-1-9; Earl Englebrecht, 4-3-11; Steve Liebi, 4-4-12; Carl Johnson, 1-0-2; Ron Kappleman, 3-5-11; Rickie Cook, 0-2-2; Terry Allee, 2-3-7; Dennis Scott, 3-2-8; John Hill, 3-0-5. Prisoner Seeks Move To New Jail

TOPEKA (AP)—George Gessner, a former soldier convicted of passing nuclear secrets to Russia, is seeking transfer from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth to the Johnson County, Kan., jail on the grounds he would be better able to work with his attorney in preparing an appeal.

Vance Collins, U.S. marshal for Kansas, testified in U.S. District Court Tuesday that his office had elected to keep Gessner at Leavenworth for the prisoner's own safety and because of top secret information in Gessner's mind.

Collins said it was felt Gessner should be protected from other prisoners because they look down on a man who has betrayed his country.

In an appearance before the court last week, Gessner charged he had been physically assaulted by guards in the penitentiary. He said that on one occasion his clothes were ripped off him by prison guards and that he was thrown into a "stripped" cell. He said a bruise on his arm had been inflicted by a guard on Nov. 2.

The hearing was on a habeas corpus action by Gessner, asking that the court order him to be held at a county jail pending outcome of his appeal from a life sentence for furnishing atomic secrets over to the Russian embassy in Mexico City.

Officials said Gessner has elected not to begin serving his sentence pending outcome of his appeal. As a result, he is technically in custody of the marshal's office.

Judge George Templar reserved ruling on the motion and asked attorneys to prepare suggested findings of fact to aid in reaching a decision.

Anderson Keeps Lead Despite His Day Off

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Anderson of Tulsa had a day off last Saturday but it made no difference in college football's total-offense and forward-passing statistics.

The talented Tulsa signal caller retained his lead in all races despite his inactivity last week, according to figures released by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau today.

Anderson has gained 2,644 yards passing and running to 2,141 for runner-up Billy Stevens of Texas Western. Both have played eight games with Anderson's total coming on 466 plays, 89 more than Stevens.

In forward passing, Anderson holds even a wider edge on Stevens and Tom Wilson of Texas Tech. The Tulsa flash is the only passer with over 200 completions. He's clicked on 234 aeriels with Wilson and Stevens tied for second place at 146.

Jim Grabowski of Illinois joined Southern California's Mike Garrett as the only runners who've rushed for more than 1,000 yards. But the Trojan ace, with 1,118 yards gained and two games remaining to Grabowski's 1,071 and only one game to play, seems to have the title wrapped up.

Were a U. S. president to submit his resignation, he would have to notify the secretary of state.

Sentence Union Man

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—William R. Beem, 50, of Union Mo., was sentenced Tuesday to a four-year prison term for a bogus land development scheme. He was convicted Oct. 14 of 10 counts of mail fraud after a 10-day trial.

Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye of U.S. District Court allowed Beem a 10-day period in which to prepare an appeal.

Green Bay Has Reasons For Its 7-2 Record

NEW YORK (AP)—There has to be some explanation for Green Bay's 7-2 won-lost record with an offense that is last in the National Football League.

Lionel Aldridge, 245-pound defensive end, is one of the reasons.

Aldridge, a third-year pro from Utah State who was drafted No. 4 by the Packers, led Green Bay's defensive unit Sunday in an effort that gave him The Associated Press' selection as the Defensive Player of the Week in the NFL.

Offensive Tackle Is Named Top Lineman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Usually it's the defensive line-men, who make most of the tackles, who snare the linemen honors in college football. It's different today with Francis Peay, 246-pound offensive tackle at Missouri, being named Lineman of the Week by The Associated Press.

Peay, a 21-year-old senior from Pittsburgh, Pa., gained the nod for his outstanding blocking for backs Charlie Brown and Gary Lane in Missouri's 30-0 victory over Oklahoma.

He made the big blocks for Brown on the strong side," said Rollie Dotsch, Missouri assistant coach. "Peay can take a man on his outside and hook him in, and do it consistently. It's a lot to ask, but he does it all the time."

Ron Kostelnik slammed into Munson, jarring the ball loose and Aldridge recovered on the Rams' 20 with about two minutes to go. Don Chandler's winning seven-yard field goal followed.

Rather Than Diplomacy

Count On Military Action To Bring Viet Nam Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—At this stage of the Vietnamese war the United States is counting primarily on military successes rather than diplomatic appeals to persuade North Viet Nam to enter into peace negotiations.

A fresh bid by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant for concessions from all sides in the conflict to promote the prospects for peace failed today to arouse any outward enthusiasm here.

Administration officials said the United States is ready to talk but they see no interest in talks now on the part of the Vietnamese Communist leadership.

The current visit to Moscow by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, a close associate of President Johnson, may produce some U.S. peace approach to the Soviet government. Officials here will not say what — if any — instructions Mansfield had from Johnson on this point.

But they do expect that if

Mansfield urges Soviet peace pressures on North Viet Nam, which is receiving Soviet military aid, he also will stress Johnson's determination not to yield South Viet Nam to Communist conquest.

The fact is, however, that U.S. policymakers are generally pessimistic about the outlook for negotiations at this time. They believe the North Vietnamese and guerrilla leaders in South Viet Nam, though their confidence of victory may be shaken, are not yet persuaded they face eventual defeat.

There is some opinion here, moreover, that the war may never end in a negotiated settlement. Those who think this is a serious possibility say that after a time the fighting may simply die down as larger areas come under control of U.S. and South Vietnamese forces. North Viet Nam, according to this theory, could just quietly give up the struggle.

American strategy is now aimed at progressively destroying or wearing down the Communist military forces on the ground in the South and wrecking their morale, while maintaining aerial bombardment of targets in the North. An important new element of this strategy apparently is to press offensive operations against the North Vietnamese regular troops in the South wherever they can be found.

The United States now has 160,000 troops in South Viet Nam and is building up to 200,000 as an immediate target with no limit on increases beyond that point.

Buck Comes In Close For Hunter

Ray Riggs and his son Daryl, 2406 Albert Lee, set up their deer stand about eight feet up in a tree and began the vigil on opening day of the 1965 deer season Monday.

It wasn't long before Daryl's father spotted a doe about 200 yards away. Daryl, who is 14, advised they wait. He was sure a buck would come along anytime. Before he could really finish with his advice, his father told him he was right—a buck did come along. The animal, later weighed at 110 pounds, was standing about ten feet away from the Riggs' spot.

Daryl, according to his father, had to shoot almost from the hip with his 30-30 and killed the buck where it stood. This year is Daryl's third time out. He missed his deer last year, but did get one the first year he went — a month after he was 11 years old.

Many deer hunters can look toward his latest experience with envy — and quite a few of them probably do.

Hunting 2-Million People For Social Security Rolls

Nearly 2 million persons are being sought in a huge missing persons hunt being conducted by the Social Security Administration.

Ralph T. Sprague, social security district manager in Sedalia, said these people may be eligible for hospital and medical insurance benefits provided by the Social Security Amendments of 1965.

These people 65 or over are now eligible under the new broad program of health insurance known popularly as Medicare. But, they are unknown to the Social Security Administration because they have not taken steps to sign up under the program.

The missing persons are divided into two groups, Sprague said. Over 900,000 are those over 65 who have never filed claims for benefits, usually because they are still working. Another 800,000 over 65 do not have enough credit for work under social security to get benefits.

These missing persons or members of their families are urged to get in touch with their social security offices without delay to establish benefit rights so they can receive health insurance and other benefits when the program goes into effect July 1, 1966.

Representatives of the Sedalia office go to contact stations in Marshall, Slater, Boonville, Versailles, Warsaw, Clinton, Windsor, Warrensburg, and Holden on a regular schedule. Fill out the coupon below if you would like an appointment at a designated time to avoid waiting for service. An appointment will be set up at the contact station nearest you.

Railroad People Applying For Medicare Coverage

T. E. Keating District Manager Railroad Retirement Board advises, nearly 9 out of 10 elderly railroad people are enrolling in the supplementary medical insurance coverage provided by the 1965 Medicare act, the Railroad Retirement Board reported.

The high acceptance rate is based on enrollment returns received by the Board as a result of mailing some 510,000 Medicare kits early in October. The Medicare kits were sent to individuals aged 65 and over on the Board's rolls who are not receiving social security benefits. The kits contain information on the Medicare hospital and medical insurance programs as well as a form on which to apply for the supplementary medical insurance coverage.

With almost one-half of the applications in, the returns indicate that 86 percent of the individuals who completed the forms requested to be enrolled in the medical insurance program. Nearly 3 percent of the forms returned were temporarily excluded from the count because they were incomplete. In most of these cases, the individuals either failed to indicate their decision about the medical insurance plan or failed to sign the form.

The medical insurance plan, which is optional, will pay a substantial part of doctor bills and certain medical expenses. Aged persons who choose this coverage will pay $3 a month in premiums beginning July 1966. All persons aged 65 and over who are receiving railroad retirement or social security benefits will automatically participate in basic hospital insurance program. This program will pay most of the costs of hospital and nursing-home care. Both programs will start in July 1966.

Board Chairman Howard W. Habermeyer pointed out that the law provides specific enrollment periods during which eligible persons can sign up for medical insurance benefits. The first enrollment period began on Sept. 1, 1965, and will end on March 31, 1966. Persons born before Jan. 2, 1901, must sign up during the current enrollment period in order to be covered under the medical insurance program when it begins in July 1966. Eligible railroad employees who have not yet required can sign up for the hospital and medical insurance benefits at any Board office.

Possibility Of Diamonds On the Moon

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—A scientist says the moon, generally believed to be a dry and barren chunk of rock, may have water and diamonds in its crust.

Nobel Prize-winning chemist Harold C. Urey told science writers Tuesday that the heat and pressure he believes created the moon from space gas and dust also would have formed diamonds on or near its surface.

The same theory of the moon's origin leads to the possibility that water, condensed from gases, may lie beneath the moon's surface.

Upward seepage of this water,

Dr. Urey said, may explain the broad flat plains on the moon which resemble dried-up ocean beds.

Ancient astronomers thought the plains were large bodies of water and called them maria, the Latin word for seas.

Dr. Urey won the 1934 Nobel Prize for discovering deuterium, an element of the hydrogen bomb.

He said some of the craters on the moon's surface may not be volcanoes, but the openings of tubes through which water has gushed to the surface.

Urey had no estimate of the quantity or value of any diamonds that might be found by Apollo astronauts scheduled to land on the moon before 1970.

He said one theory of the moon's evolution indicated the proper pressure, heat and materials to create diamonds—primarily carbon—were present when the moon was formed.

Urey said small flecks of diamond have been found in meteorites which he believes may have been blasted from the moon toward earth by impact with other meteorites.

Urey spoke at the third annual briefing on new frontiers of science, sponsored by the Council for the Advancement of Science Writing.

Troy Man Killed

Approve Bond Issue

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A bond issue of $25.2 million for expanding Metropolitan Junior College won overwhelming approval in a special election Tuesday.

The unofficial count was 34,751 to 8,464. The turnout—43,215—was a shade heavier than expected, despite the fact about 300,000 were eligible.

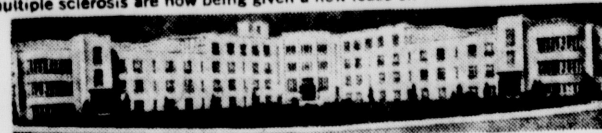

Residents of the Kansas City

School District will provide most of the tax support for retiring the bonds, but the junior college also will serve the North Kansas City, Center, Raytown, Lee's Summit, Hickman Mills, Grandview and Belton school districts. The $25 million is to be used to buy the sites for three campuses and provide nine buildings and the equipment for one of the three.

Teenage Drinking Problem In An Average US Family

EDITOR'S NOTE — They nabbed the boy with beer, and his father said, "Thank God." Here's why, and what happened, as told by Mr. X, an editor on a large newspaper and an average parent.

By Mr. X
Written For
The Associated Press

"Thank God my son was arrested!"

A strange statement for a father to make?

Not at all, especially since it's our own quotation and our own 18-year-old son we're talking about.

For the experience of being hauled into jail, booked, and later appearing in an adult court of law did more toward maturing him and helping him get back on the right track than 10,000 parental lectures.

The charge for which he was

Bury Thorns Of Rhubarb In Relations

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — With Soviet help, the biggest political rhubarb of U.S.-Indian relations in 1963 finally has been buried.

The Soviet Union has agreed (for a price) to supply a 1,000-kilowatt radio transmitter that India will try to use in countering Red China's propaganda in Southeast Asia.

Thus ends the celebrated Voice of America case that touched off angry leftist demonstrations in India two years ago, annoyed Washington and, probably, aroused laughter in China.

It started with the China-India border war in 1962 and India's sudden realization of how antiquated its propaganda machine was in comparison with China's.

New Delhi decided to contest Peking's radio propaganda in Southeast Asia, and a search began for a powerful transmitter.

The United States offered one of a million watts, ready to be installed in Calcutta to begin chasing the Chinese off the air waves.

This $2 million transmitter was to cost India the token price of one rupee (21 cents).

India quickly accepted. Then somebody discovered the Americans had tied a string to the deal.

Voice of America, owner of the transmitter, also had a few things to say to China's listening audience and wanted to use the transmitter three hours daily for five years.

There was an immediate uproar in India.

The late Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru badly wanted that transmitter but he wanted political peace more. So he called off the deal, saying it had been made without his being aware of the details.

For the next two years, India searched for a nonaligned transmitter. Private bids were considered from many countries. But somehow a new deal never shaped up.

Then, the Soviets made their offer: 8,434,000 rupees ($1,771,140), 2.5 per cent annual interest and repayment in five years for a 1,000-kilowatt transmitter. Not exactly a 21-cent deal but there were no strings attached.

Perhaps as valuable as anything in the episode, in addition to the court appearance itself, was the time our attorney spent talking to our son about the law, the problem of having a record.

We think our son, now in college, has learned his lesson. We also know that perhaps we need to remind him occasionally we're still trying to be a good parent.

And, perhaps, we're still failing.

Only time will tell.

To Close An Armory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced today that the Springfield Armory in Massachusetts will be closed, as originally planned.

He reaffirmed a decision first announced a year ago but held up for further consideration.

All operations at the armory will be phased out over the next 2½ years and it will be turned over to the General Services Administration by April 1968.

The Pentagon said all career employees whose jobs are eliminated will be offered other job opportunities.

Flight Running Late

BUENOS AIRES, Argentine (AP)—A scientific flight circling the world over the North and South poles was reported five hours behind schedule today on this flight toward the South Pole.

The reason for the delay was not known here.

The control tower at Buenos Aires' International Airport said the plane, with 45 scientists and others on board, had reported in to Recife, Brazil, at 8:50 a.m. on its flight from London to Buenos Aires.

The plane left from California Sunday and flew to Honolulu for the hop over the North Pole to London. After Buenos Aires, the 707 Boeing jet will fly over the South Pole to Christchurch, New Zealand. It then returns to Honolulu and Burbank, Calif.

Not all the boys and girls being booked for illegal possession come from broken homes or the so-called underprivileged class.

Far from it. They're coming from just as many "good" families — families such as yours and mine, where the parents are interested and are trying. And failing, as we did.

We're pretty much an average family, live in an average neighborhood in a big city, are active in our church, belong to the PTA, try to do things together as a family.

Our son is an average student, perhaps a little better-than-average football player for he now is on a college squad, is good-looking, has a good personality, is held in high regard by his teachers, coaches and others, was president of his church youth group, a Boy Scout and all the other things the average boy does.

We noted the first danger signals the closing months of his senior year in high school. He and his buddies began going too often to a drive-in hamburger joint notorious not only as THE place where the teen-age set gathered but also for too-frequent brawls and drinking in parked cars.

We, along with parents of his closest friends, forbade our son's going to the drive-in. But we also knew that at least once in a while they went anyway.

We didn't care about some of the new circle of friends he began making: two or three high school dropouts, one youth expelled for hitting at teacher. In a calm, rational way, we talked this over.

Then our son began working hard and long hours. There wasn't any time for much of anything except a movie or two. And we were happy.

But one Saturday after work he and a friend and three other youths, strangers to our son, picked up a case of beer and went to a drive-in movie. That's when it happened.

In the early hours of the morning our son was released on $50 bail. The police were peared to be a fine boy, was cooperative and not smart-alecky, wasn't intoxicated or anything like that, and just got caught doing what perhaps 70 or 80 per cent of the teen-agers at drive-ins were doing anyway.

As if that helped! We were ashamed, disgusted, hurt and angry. We told our son that he'd broken his promises, had gotten himself into the mess, and could get himself out or take the punishment he deserved.

But as the trial date neared we knew we couldn't just sit by and watch him "take his medicine" and receive a criminal record if there were any means to prevent it. We hired an attorney and did some investigating in which it was discovered that the arrest itself was hardly legal.

Perhaps as valuable as anything in the episode, in addition to the court appearance itself, was the time our attorney spent talking to our son about the law, the problem of having a record.

We think our son, now in college, has learned his lesson. We also know that perhaps we need to remind him occasionally we're still trying to be a good parent.

And, perhaps, we're still failing.

Only time will tell.

Cool, Few Calories, the Trick

Cold, Hungry Children Stay Young

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If you knew you could prolong the youth of your children by keeping them cold and hungry, would you?

Playing it cool and cutting calories may be just the thing for staying young longer.

Two Baltimore scientists say it has worked in their experiments with rodents and rotifers. (Yeah, rotifers. You know, tiny water animals).

Why not people?

Well, for one thing, said the scientists, Drs. Charles H. Barrows and Nathan W. Shock, if you can read this you're too late to start the treatment.

"These experiments indicate that what happens to a person very early in life influences greatly what happens to him later in life," explained Dr. Shock.

The answer then, no doubt, is to run to the cradle and snatch away that bottle and blanket.

Well, Dr. Barrows isn't too optimistic that it would work.

"It would be very difficult to get enough children whose parents would allow them to be fed only half of what all the other children are getting," he said.

"They probably would be smaller, and the practical problems would be great."

Drs. Shock and Barrow told newsmen Thursday that their rats and rotifers, who had no choice but to cooperate, had lived up to twice as long as well-fed rats and warm rotifers. And they reported, they lengthened certain stages of the creatures' lives, including the reproductive period and old age.

"We regard this as an important finding because it means we may be able to do something biologically that will influence the period of old age," said Dr. Shock.

Dr. Barrows said that feeding rats one-third less than normal amounts extended their life span by 50 per cent.

The life of a rotifer was

lengthened 100 per cent by either cutting down on the food or by reducing the temperature of the water in which they live.

Dr. Shock is chief of the gerontology branch of the National Heart Institute, Baltimore City Hospitals. Dr. Barrows heads the institute's section on nutritional biochemistry. They're in Los Angeles for a meeting of the gerontological society.

PEEK-A-BOO MAP—What looks like fancy grillwork actually is a see-through watershed map at the Agriculture Department Hydrograph Laboratory at Beltsville, Md. H. N. Holton, laboratory director, checks the map which defines wooded areas, fields and bodies of water. Soil samples collected from the sections are used in estimating floodwater runoff from rainstorms on 200 experimental watersheds throughout the country.

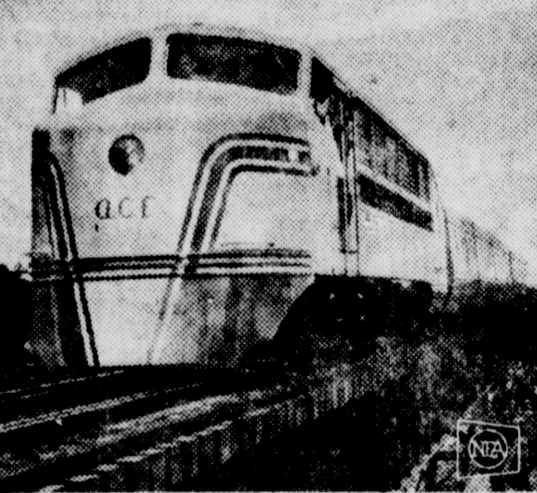

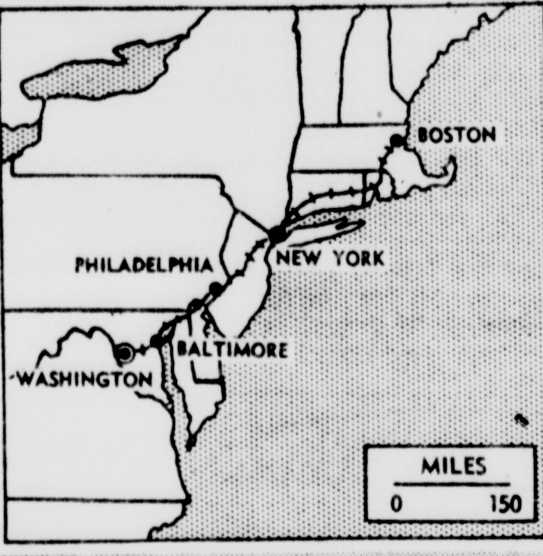

Picking Up SPEED

Europe has several fast trains. Italy's Maritan covers the 600-mile Milan-Rome-Naples run at 100 m.p.h. and better.

France's Mistral, until the Hikari the world's fastest, averages close to 80 m.p.h. on the 195-mile Dijon leg of its Paris-Riviera run.

Spain's Talgo does the 400 miles from Irun, on the French border to Madrid in eight hours, takes curves at 70 m.p.h.

The world's fastest train now streaking along the rails in Japan, is very likely to speed solution of some of this country's transportation problems. Lessons learned from the new Hikari (Flash)—covering the 322 miles between Tokyo and Osaka, Japan's two largest cities, in 3 hours 10 minutes—are certain to influence planning for high-speed rail service in our "northeast corridor" from Washington to Boston. At left is the Hikari, which hits speeds up to 150 m.p.h. on special roadbeds and with special safety devices and control equipment. Similar scale maps below show the Tokyo-Osaka route, left, and the U.S. "northeast corridor," right. It is hoped eventually to have trains making the 454-mile Washington-Boston run in something like four hours.

Things We Could Do Without

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Things we could do without:
Young men who look like they're wearing a nest of robins in their hair.
Discotheque dancers who twitch like they had the itch, or were trying to run a 100-yard race on a pogo stick.
Any new kinds of dog foods, deodorants or dandruff cures.
Christmas cards that depict pretty girls in a Santa Claus suit, or Santa himself in a bathing suit chasing a beach maid wearing a bikini.
Any more books by doctors or marriage counselors on what to do about sex. All the possibilities of sex have been pointed out by eminent authorities many times already. What civilization needs is more good cook books and fewer manuals on sex, as no civilized person ever loses interest in good cooking.
Motorists who say they only want half of the road but decide their half is in the middle.
Teachers who give your kids homework that would tax the mental powers of an Einstein.
The telephone company's decision to give us all numbers that only a computer can remember.
Power companies that can't explain after a blackout why all their electricity took a vacation at the same time.
College boys who think it smart to light their cigarettes with their draft cards.
Office wits who, when you're taking up a collection for a retiree, invariably whine, "When are you going to take up one for me?"

Lady shoppers in supermarkets who ram a fellow's shins with their carts and then glare at him as if he should apologize for being alive.
Wiseacres who, when you tell them you're going to the dentist to get your teeth cleaned, reply, "Why bother to go yourself? Why not just mail them in?"
Anybody who mails your wife another credit plate.
Anybody who mails you another credit card.
Health nuts who think they can solve all your problems by showing you a series of isometric exercises that cured them of eczema, rid them of 25 pounds of fat, and brought them new success in their work.
From these and other pests, deliver us, amen.

Will Visit Troops
HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York will visit U.S. Army troops in West Germany and West Berlin during the Thanksgiving holidays, the Army announced today.

The iron men of the Boys Club enjoyed a good week at the weights with Jay Weaver establishing a new record of a press of 165, a snatch of 161½ and a two hand jerk of 210. John Allen had a clean and jerk of 155 and a press of 130, while Jim Dale had a clean and jerk of 130.

Gordon Strain, weight lifting instructor, was a judge at the weight lifting contest of the Mid-America area held in Columbia, Mo.

The mats have been getting a good workout with a number of boys working at wrestling, both individual matches and tag team matches. Judo is getting a play from some of the boys who are becoming adept at some of the holds. An instructor from Whiteman AFB was on hand last week to demonstrate some of the simpler falls and breaks.

Whites Hostile To Racial TV Coverage

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Southern whites have been hostile to network television coverage of Negro demonstrations "because it shocked them and threatened their cherished illusions by breaking through the 'Magnolia Curtain.'" William Monroe, chief of the Washington news bureau of the National Broadcasting Company said Monday night.
Monroe spoke at the 8th annual Freedom of Information Conference at the University of Missouri. The three-day conference, which winds up today, was sponsored by the information center at the university and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. This year's theme was "The Racial Crisis and the News Media."

Fifty newspaper and broadcasting news executives attended the conference.
Arthur Bertelson, managing editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, criticized press efforts in trying to keep up with the racial crises and becoming too involved in them.

"We recognize the rightness of the demands and aspirations of the culturally disadvantaged," Bertelson said. "But we're not critical enough of the methods proposed to attain these objectives."

Claude Sifton, national news director of the New York Times, suggested that in the future news media should concentrate more on such subjects as segregation in the schools, the displacement of the Negro by technological change, the "paradox that housing is becoming more segregated," the despair of the Northern Negroes in slums and the changing political complexion of the civil rights movement.

Tom Poston, veteran reporter for the New York Post, denounced what he termed "Negro scare stories."

"There has hardly been a single year in New York," he said, "that the local dailies—and this includes my own New York Post—haven't had at least one season of Negro scare stories which arouses such intra-community tensions that bloodshed could well result."

Don Farmer, correspondent for the American Broadcasting Company, said the viewpoint of

British Reappraisal Continuing

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
LONDON (AP) — "Gentlemen," the prime minister said, "there are no sacred cows in the Labor government's defense policy."

With those words Harold Wilson a year ago invited key ministers to justify, if they could, the abandonment of some of Britain's old but costly commitments to protect her friends, partners and interests around the world.

The mammoth reappraisal is still under way. More than 100 overseas obligations are under scrutiny. Some date to the 18th century when the British Empire was rising to dominate the globe.

Something has to be done, government men are saying, if Britain is to continue fulfilling global responsibilities in the common allied interest.

The signs are that the Wilson government is shaping up a case to put to some of her Atlantic allies and Commonwealth partners to pick up part of Britain's overseas defense bill.

The West Germans, for instance, will be asked to contribute toward the price of safeguarding and insuring Middle East oil supplies which feed their industries. The Australians and New Zealanders will be urged to pitch into the cost of securing the east-of-Suez region.

Defense Minister Denis Healey put it this way in August: "Our contribution to the defense of the free world is costing us $1 billion a year."

"It is ironic that West Germany is gaining $1 billion a year of foreign exchange through the stationing of allied forces on her soil."

Britain's defense review will affect its politico-strategic policies for the next generation. But no major obligation will be surrendered without consultation with the powers directly or indirectly concerned. These exchanges are foreseen for early 1966.

In the meantime several preliminary conclusions have emerged:

— There will be no wholesale slaughter of Britain's big responsibilities. The government proclaimed last February it would be "politically irresponsible and economically wasteful" to quit such key bases as those in Aden, Singapore, Hong Kong, for an indefinite time.

— There will be extensive cuts to take account of the reality that Britain today is a second-class power short of cash. This foreshadows recasting of the worldwide system of bases, lines of communication and commitments in general. Garrisons in Aden, Singapore, Cyprus and Libya will be trimmed. Fixed establishments elsewhere will be cut as huge projected troop transports, such as the C5-A, come into service and transform old standards of military mobility.

— There will be fulfillment, even widening, of what Wilson sees proudly as Britain's unique role in the vast areas beyond Europe, east of Suez. Wilson told this correspondent last month he foresees Britain linking up with the Americans, Australians and New Zealanders in a new security system in that region. The underlying idea is to try to check Red Chinese expansionism. The British leader disclosed he aims to internationalize Britain's nuclear weapon resources not only for the defense of Europe but also for the defense of the east-of-Suez region.

The British already are working on plans for a new security system for the area. One objective is to create a framework for the deployment, on an international basis, of British H-power. Another is to offer safeguards to non-nuclear states fearing Red Chinese threats or LIGHTING UP FOR EDISON—The birthplace of Thomas A. Edison, a 124-year-old red brick house at Milan, Ohio, is now a National Historic Landmark. thrusts. A third goal will be to spread the load of British defense costs in that theater, now running at $714 million a year, among the participants.

In this context London and Washington already agree that Diego Garcia, a coral atoll in the Chagos archipelago midway between Africa and Indonesia, would serve best as the centerpiece of a new chain of communication, storage and other military facilities.

For a lot of Britons the process of military reappraisal is packed with pain and irony.

The pain is felt by those who have still to shed their nostalgia for imperial grandeur.

The irony is provided by the insistence of Wilson, a Socialist premier, on Britain's right and duty to fulfill an updated version of her imperial mission east of Suez — and being criticized for it by politicians of the extreme right and left for differing reasons.

Those pained by Britain's reduced status have seen 654 million colonial subjects graduate to the level of Commonwealth equals. They have watched 24 million Asians and Africans quit the Commonwealth family entirely. This country, which directly ruled 700 million people after World War II, now governs less than 10 million abroad.

Leading Labor left-wingers, proud of imperial disengagement, have been stung by Wilson's backing of America's fight in Viet Nam. They want Britain to shed all remaining imperial involvements in Asia, bases and the rest, and they would like to see Britain's H-weapons phased out unconditionally.

Wilson's men assert the nation has been overspending since 1952 without getting full value. The bill this year is up 2.3 per cent to $6.04 billion dollars — setting the defense element of the gross national product at 6.9 per cent. The comparable American figure today, taking account of the ever-swelling Viet Nam burden, is 8 per cent and rising. Future annual defense bills until 1970, the Labor government has decreed, must stay pegged at $5.6 billion.

On nuclear weapons Wilson says he's still determined to phase out Britain's own deterrent power. He wants to internationalize it if he can but not if this would wreck chances of a world pact to stop the spread of these weapons.

Janet Leigh Not Running For Office

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Here's one political-minded star who isn't thinking of running for office: Janet Leigh.

George Murphy danced his way to the United States Senate. Ronald Reagan is casting his eyes at the governorship of California. Wendell Corey is a member of the Santa Monica City Council. Steve Allen announced he was running for Congress — but couldn't qualify.

With this and other political action among actors, it seemed possible that Miss Leigh might seek elective office. After all, she is a veteran campaigner and member of two government bodies.

The possibilities are enormous: the candidate kissing bald heads instead of babies, campaigning in a leotard — every speech would be a whistle stop. "Vote for Janet — she's out of this planet!"

The actress put a halt to such conjecture.

"Me run for office? No chance," she stated flatly.

"It would end my amateur standing. Now when I talk to gatherings about public issues, they believe me, because they know that there's nothing in it for me. But if I were to run for office, my motives would be suspect."

Miss Leigh has done some touring of foreign lands for the State Department, and her service led to appointment to the Peace Corps Advisory Council. Along with other Americans from all walks of life, she attends meetings periodically to discuss problems confronting the corps and advise of policy.

"Then we pursue whatever aspect of the corps we are interested in," she explained. "I felt I could do some good in recruiting, and so I have made appearances at colleges. I also have been concerned with educational television in Colombia."

Her activity in state political matters also led to her appointment by Gov. Edmund G. Brown to the State Recreation Commission.

Miss Leigh is not so stimulated by public affairs that she is giving up her career. She is currently costarring with Jerry Lewis in the madcap's first adventure away from Paramount: "Three on a Couch," filmed at Columbia. She also will be hostess for a Hollywood Palace show on Nov. 27.

She admitted that politics hold a great deal of interest for her. "I think it's a good sign when actors can be seriously considered for political office. That indicates the public is more mature than the times when the misdeeds of one actor would cause all of us to be labeled as immoral."

Look Away, Dixieland

The South is moving out of the economic backwaters of the nation but it is still lagging behind where the arts are concerned, claims a University of North Carolina sociologist.

As a result, a "culture crisis" is developing.

"The Mason-Dixon line no longer constitutes an iron curtain against the Affluent Society," says Prof. Rupert B. Vance, writing in the Virginia Quarterly Review.

He notes that personal income in the South rose from 46 per cent of the per capita average outside the South in 1929 to 69 per cent in 1963—a gain of 23 percentage points in 34 years.

Although some observers believe it will take another 50 years for the South to reach economic parity with the rest of the country, it is already facing the problem of what to do with its new wealth. No purpose will be served, says Vance, if the South retains Southern tradition in its "rigid orthodoxy."

"It is precisely this Southern way of life that the rest of the world are getting sick and tired of hearing about," he says.

He challenges the South to "turn from preoccupation with its peculiar navel—the Southern way of life—to the pursuit of high culture."

The talent is there. Southern literature, for example, "has solidly established itself as the most important, the most talented, interesting and valuable in the United States."

An economic basis sufficient to furnish markets for culture is developing. What is needed now, he says, is leadership from the new class of men of wealth and power as patrons of the arts.

He points to symphony orchestras to be supported in the larger cities, the need for more little theaters and art museums and financial support of universities without attempts to dictate their policies.

"If our newly rich have nothing better to do," Vance asks, "than harass the few distinguished universities the South has produced, to buy radio time to try to turn back the clock, to prove they are economic Neanderthals by boring into the Republican party and trying to destroy it with racism, who needs them?"

The World Today

New Paddle to Stir Civil Rights Pot

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The whole civil rights front will be boiling in 1966.

President Johnson gave a taste of it Tuesday night when he said he will ask Congress in January for legislation "to prevent injustice to Negroes at the hands of all-white juries."

No doubt he will ask for other legislation in the civil rights field. Thus those who may have thought that things might quiet down after the congressional battles over the Civil Rights Acts of 1964 and 1965 were wrong.

In addition, in the spring there will be a civil rights conference at the White House on how to make equal rights a national reality.

Today civil rights leaders, representing groups from conservative to radical, began a two-day session to prepare for the spring meeting.

Even before the two-day meeting could get under way the American Friends Service Committee and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People released recommendations on speeding school desegregation.

They noted that the Southern Regional Council had found "fewer than 6 per cent of the Deep South Negro pupils are in desegregated situations" and that "this is not just a statistic, this is a human tragedy."

Over the past weekend the U.S. Civil Rights Commission asked for new federal laws and full enforcement of old ones to stop racial violence and injustice in the South.

The commission urged Johnson to send more federal officers to racial trouble spots and to authorize them to make on-the-spot arrests. The Justice Department has been very restrained in the use of federal police power.

Further, the commission wants a law making it a federal crime to threaten, intimidate or punish persons engaged in civil rights activities. This would include holding trial in federal court in an area where it is decided racial prejudice is too great to permit justice.

The commission said that in some Southern communities officials have defied the Constitution and repudiated their oaths by denying protection of the laws to Negro citizens.

Johnson, to whom the commission sent its 188-page report, said Monday night, "We intend to make the jury box, in both state and federal courts, the sacred domain of justice under law."

He pointed out the government already has moved to join in three suits which, he said, challenge a biased system of jury selection. Johnson said, "We must do more, we will do more."

Meanwhile, the Justice Department is pushing a number of civil rights cases in the courts.

Johnson called attention to something else. He said he will expect immediate results from a letter just sent out by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach calling on all agencies to ferret out discrimination in every assistance program.

The Supreme Court is fed up with delays in school desegregation. In a unanimous ruling the court said Monday, "Delays in desegregation of school systems are no longer tolerable."

Orders One Judge To Sentence Gamblers

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The State Supreme Court has ordered that one judge in each county will be responsible for sentencing gamblers.

The court ordered the plan in an effort to get uniformity in treatment of gamblers.

THE WELL CHILD

Some Children Sleep With Eyes Half Open

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A mother writes that her 9-year-old daughter has for several years slept with her eyes half open. This is not an uncommon observation. If the child can close her eyes without difficulty when she is awake there is nothing to worry about. The growth of her eyelids has not yet caught up with that of her eyeballs and she will outgrow it.

If a toxic goiter is present the eyes will protrude day and night and, if this is the case, the child will need medical attention. In most children who sleep with their eyes partially open the eyeballs roll upward so that only the whites are visible, but if any of the iris is exposed an ointment or eye drops should be prescribed for use at bedtime.

Q — In your column about agammaglobulinemia you stated that it may be transmitted by the mother but is seen only in boys. My little girl had this condition and took shots of gamma globulin for a year. How do you explain this?

A — In agammaglobulinemia, which occurs only in boys, there is a complete absence of gamma globulin in the blood. Occasionally girls of preschool age have a gamma globulin deficiency — not a complete absence. If they get frequent infections, injections of gamma globulin are given for a short time. By the time these girls are ready for school their gamma globulin production is usually normal.

Q — Our 3-year-old son can lift neither his head nor his limbs. His speech and intelligence are normal for his age. Our doctor says he has amyotonia congenita. What causes it and what is the treatment?

A — Since your son's disease is inherited as a recessive (as opposed to dominant) characteristic, the determinant genes must have been present in both you and your husband. Unfortunately there is no treatment for this disease and far too many frantic parents spend their life savings dashing from clinic to clinic in search of a cure. This leads to disappointment and bankruptcy.

Most children who have this disease die in their first year. Those who survive beyond one year usually show some improvement but never achieve much muscular strength.

Q — My 8-year-old daughter has a double-jointed knee and falls a lot. What can be done for her?

A — She should wear a brace. If for any reason this is not feasible she will have to have an operation to fuse her knee joint so that it will not bend at all.

We the Women

A Lady Brings Out Courtesv

By Ruth Millett
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A woman reader complains that men aren't as gentlemanly toward women as they used to be.

Before we blame the men for that maybe we women ought to check up on whether or not we are doing all that we should to encourage men to treat us with special consideration and courtesy.

Do you, for instance, always thank the stranger who stops to hold a heavy door for you or takes the trouble to perform some other small courtesy? (Men claim many women today give them a suspicious look, rather than a gentle thank you, when they do try to be helpful.)

Do you give the man nearest you at a social gathering a chance to light your cigarette or pick up something you have dropped? (Men claim that women today are so quick to wait on themselves it's often difficult for a man to get a chance to open a car door for a woman or light her cigarette or move a chair for her or pick up something she has dropped.)

Do you remember your own manners when you are behind the wheel of a car? (If you don't, you really shouldn't blame a man for forgetting his when you grab his parking space or block a residential street while you exchange pleasantries with a neighbor who is behind the wheel of an automobile coming from the opposite direction. Women do this kind of thing more often than you might suppose.)

Do you listen without interrupting when a man talks? (If you are so anxious to have your say that you won't let a man finish what he has to say, you can't blame him if he shows annoyance.)

Are you courteous to every man who serves you during the course of a day — the butcher, the filling station attendant, the delivery man, the waiter? (If you are courteous you will usually, though not always, of course, be treated courteously in return.)

If women expect men to act like gentlemen — then it is imperative for women to behave like ladies.

France lost the 1958 European championship in a photo-finish when it lost the last-round match to the United Arab Republic.

Here is a key hand. When France held the North-South cards, they reached a three-spade contract and made it with an overtrick. We were not given their bidding but it is worthy of note that, while four spades is a cinch, there is not much ammunition in the North-South cards and they should not really be criticized for not getting to the game.

At the other table, the UAR stopped at two spades on the bidding shown in the box. We rather feel that they should not have stopped there. North had doubled the diamond opening with only 13 high-card points and 4-3-3-3 distribution but he held three honors in spades, the possibly important ten and nine of clubs and the king of diamonds in back of the diamond bidder. Of course, his partner had passed originally but he had jumped to two spades at his next turn.

However, North passed and this made poor East the goat. He could have passed but he was sure that South would make two spades. He also did not see the danger that South could make four spades. He had 10 high-card points and they included three spades to the ace. Then, his partner had opened the bidding.

East felt he had to complete. He did bid three hearts and all bridge players will agree with his statement: "If I had my life to live over, I would have passed."

MANY OF THE MARCHERS in the Veterans' Day parade were impressed when they saw the tiny kindergarten youngsters standing in a group on Osage, place their hands over their hearts as the flag went by. There were perhaps 20 children of the Lambirth Kindergarten, who were there with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lambirth, to watch the parade.

Practically no adults recognized the flag in any way along the line of march, but the children did as soon as it came in sight.

"It was something to see," commented one man, who was expressing the opinion of a number of others who had talked about it. — H. L.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Anti-US Atmosphere At Rio Meet

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The Rio De Janeiro foreign ministers conference, opening today, finds most of the Democratic leaders of the western hemisphere lined up against the United States, the military dictatorships behind us.

It also finds American policies in Latin America more on the spot than at any time since the 1920's when we landed Marines in Nicaragua, on top of earlier Marine landings in Haiti and Santo Domingo.

Much of the anti-American sentiment which will be voiced in the Rio conference results from the personality and policies of Tom Mann, the President's Texas friend whom he made Assistant Secretary of State in charge of Latin American affairs, and later promoted to be Deputy Under Secretary of State.

On one occasion, President Johnson called in a group of Latin American ambassadors and, in an informal chat supposed to be strictly confidential, tried to sell them on Tom Mann. He described Mann as a brilliant, dedicated, but misunderstood individual.

The Latin ambassadors went away still "misunderstanding" Mann. The President made no impression on them whatsoever. They regard Mann as too military-minded, much too quick on the draw, and a bad influence around a Texas-born President also inclined to shoot from the hip.

The two chief issues to be debated at the Rio conference will be:

1. The removal of the OAS headquarters from Washington so it won't be under the domination of the United States. This will probably fail.

2. Blocking any future Pan American police force. This will probably succeed.

For the first time in history a Pan American police force is operating in the Dominican Republic, and, although it was hurriedly thrown together in order to take the curse off the American military occupation of that country, it could become an important precedent for Pan American stability and for use in revolt-torn countries.

If, for instance, Cuba should kick out Castro and a government vacuum exist there, the United States would like to have a Pan American police force which could be thrown in to restore order.

Such nations as Mexico, Chile, and Uruguay, however, are gravely suspicious of any Pan American army. They regard it as a concealed arm of U. S. militarism. The debate over it will be hot and heavy at Rio De Janeiro.

PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN: Motivation.

— The fact that it has been somewhat difficult to recruit youngsters from poor families for part-time jobs in the Federally-sponsored neighborhood Youth Corps here is not altogether surprising.

A chief aim of this program is to reach deep into pockets of community poverty to try to rescue at least a few of those whose environment threatens to consign them to what Labor Secretary Wirtz has called the "slag heap" of unemployed and unemployable youths. Their most critical disability is lack of clear and sustained motivation toward self-improvement. The hope is that supervised work experience, in the parks, hospitals and elsewhere, will begin to give them the "feel" of opportunity and the path to advancement.

The fact that response is not easily evoked from among the hundreds and thousands of youngsters who are known to lack such opportunity serves only to underscore the need. More aggressive recruiting — aimed, indeed, at the least responsive — ought to be the very essence of this enterprise.

Make Butter Last Longer

By Polly Cramer
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for kitchen economy. My children often make and butter their own toast and the butter disappears like magic. Now I keep a small covered bowl of melted butter or margarine on the stove directly over the pilot light. There is a pastry brush in the bowl. Toast can be buttered in a second with no thought of waste and this is so handy I wonder what I ever did without it. — MRS. B. J. T.

DEAR POLLY — In the trunk of my car I keep a small travel case equipped with items like mouthwash, toothpaste, face cloth, soap and adhesive bandages, paper, pencil, crayons, coloring book, a puzzle, safety pins, hand cream, a child's book and several small items that will amuse the children or pass the time while waiting for a bridge to close or a long train to pass or waiting for someone at the station. — BONNIE

DEAR POLLY — Since I am unable to stoop over due to a bad back, my husband made me a useful gadget to use when the children are not around to help. He cut an old broomstick to size and on one sawed-off end he inserted a big hook for picking up bulky items like clothing, etc. On the other sawed-off end he inserted a nail backwards after filing off the head. Next he filed the tip of the nail very fine so that it is perfect for picking up papers and so on. This saves my back and also my pride in keeping the house neat for visitors. — MRS. C. F.

DEAR POLLY — When you do not have enough slots in your bathroom toothbrush holder, glue to the tile wall above the basin, in an upright position the two sections of the plastic container in which most toothbrushes come packaged. In this way you can add on as many extra holders as the family needs require. — SARA

DEAR POLLY — Did you ever pin jewelry on a dress or jacket only to find when you put it on that the pin was in the wrong place? It is so much easier to place a flower or pin when you are not wearing the garment. I make a couple of stitches underneath where they do not show and then there is no problem as to where the ornament goes when I am in a hurry. — MRS. L. L. R.

County Winners In Wool Competition Are Named

Pettis County did well in the District 4, Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool contest held Saturday at Sherman High School in Creighton, with Ann McMullin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McMullin, 418 East 4th, winning second place in the senior division and Donna Demand winning first and Kathy Page, second, in the junior division. Both the latter girls are from Smithton.

Donna will go on to the state contest. Ann and Kathy are alternates of their division and will go to the state contest in case the first place winners are unable to do so.

Participating in the contest were 18 entrants in the senior division and 43 in the junior division.

This is Ann's first time to enter the contest and she came out second to a girl who was participating in her fourth contest.

Mrs. Tom Smith, advanced clothing and Mrs. Mary Maddox, home economics teacher, both of Smith-Cotton, accompanied the girls to Creighton.

District 4 includes Bates, Benton, Camden, Hickory, Morgan, Cass, Henry, Johnson, Pettis and St. Clair counties.

Small In Number

Dominican Communists Still Seeking Converts

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Still reaching for power, the numerically small but always vocal and violent Communists are concentrating their efforts on attempts to dominate student, labor and peasant groups in the Dominican Republic.

They are trying to build a "united anti-imperialist front" which they apparently hope will force the Inter-American Peace Force of the Organization of American States to withdraw from this capital.

The levers the Communists use for this are anti-Yankeeism and nationalism. Nationalism has been flagging among a people weary of the civil conflict which began with a revolutionary movement last April, but the extreme left loses no opportunity to revive it.

When 2,000 battle ready OAS troops occupied the heart of Santo Domingo and the rebel area last week, the extreme left provoked noisy demonstrations. Although these were confined to a few streets in a city of a half million, they indicated resourcefulness and determination of three Communist organizations.

According to U.S. and Dominican intelligence figures, the numerical strength of the militants in the three Communist parties is divided this way: The 14th of June Movement, Castroist, between 1,500 and 2,000; the Dominican Popular Movement, reflecting the pro-Chinese viewpoint, about 800, and the pro-Moscow Dominican Communist party, about 700.

The "anti-imperialist front" drive is an objective common to almost all political parties in the Caribbean island nation.

including the Dominican Revolutionary party of former President Juan Bosch and the Social Christians. But it is the key-stone of the Communist effort.

The Bosch party and the Social Christians have balked at linking up with the Communist groupings on such a project, but joint action in the future cannot be ruled out.

It is known, for example, that the extreme left is planning to oppose spring elections on the ground that honest balloting will be impossible as long as OAS troops remain in the country. This would provide fuel to build the "anti-imperialist" fire.

In an attempt to insure their control over any such emerging front, the Communists direct their main efforts at student, labor and peasant groups, while attempting also to influence lower ranks of the military.

Their propaganda argues that the rebel "constitutionalists" were victorious in recent fighting, and that they are entitled to the spoils.
